This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. # Letters of Appreciation

Many letters of appreciation of THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR and other Christian Science activities are constantly being received. These letters express what these activities mean to different individuals in various occupations and pursuits. The favorable comment that has been received on those already published indicates that they are welcome and helpful; therefore others will be published under the above heading. Extracts from such letters follow:

JUST a word to express the joy which spontaneously bursts forth at the privilege of resubscribing to THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR. It is too vitally in touch with the good of the "children of men" to lose a copy. I will get my copies in the interim at the reading room. The word "international" is not enough fully to express all the cardinal points of this publication. It is fully adapted to lead the thought of the nations along those safe constructive lines that coordinate the seeming discord of the day into perfect and harmonious relations. Avast, there! There are no "snags" ahead. The road is clear and so I say Good speed.

I HEARD a Columbia professor say, and also one who was not a professor, but one who was addressing a group of students, that THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR had the best record of giving accurate news, and in these days of news suppression and news distortion, that is the kind of paper I want.

I TAKE this opportunity to express to you my gratitude for these periodicals, especially for THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR, the upholding of which should be the duty of every person who follows Principle instead of personal likes and dislikes. I love the MONITOR because it reflects the true spirit of Christian Science; that is, it stands for Principle and not for parties or groups of people, and after all the true understanding of Principle does not limit itself to some buildings or parties but is universal in everybody's heart. I hope, no, I know, that the MONITOR will forever continue to uphold its present stand in Principle, forever growing and broadening its views in a "world without end."

"ON THIS ROCK"

ROBERT C. BRYANT

THE Church of Christ is built on the rock of truth, the spiritual understanding of God and on nothing else. On many other foundations have mortals tried to build a church, but not one has stood the test of time and storm. Ritual, ceremony, creeds, elaborate systems of dogmatic interpretation of the Scriptures worked out in solemn convention, authority, threats of punishment, promises of reward, privileges, numerous forms of mortal opinion,—all have failed to bring mankind into harmony with God and to redeem the race, and all must fail, "for other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ."

On page 136 of our textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," our Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, says, "Jesus established his church and maintained his mission on a spiritual foundation of Christ-healing." Students of Christian Science may well study with great care pages 136 to 138 of our textbook, where Mrs. Eddy interprets with wonderful clearness the incident recorded in the sixteenth chapter of Matthew's gospel. The question naturally arose among the people, How did Christ Jesus heal the sick? And, after the Master had made repeated appeals to the disciples, in an effort to have them understand, Peter set forth the great fact that it was the Christ, the truth of man's spiritual oneness with God, with which Jesus was consciously identified, that heals. Jesus, giving complete sanction to Peter's words, said, "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.... and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Our Leader says on page 138 of Science and Health, "The supremacy of Spirit was the foundation on which Jesus built;" and in the following paragraph she continues, "Christians are under as direct orders now, as they were then, to be Christlike, to possess the Christ-spirit, to follow the Christ-example, and to heal the sick as well as the sinning."

The lesson is clear. If the foundation of the church, the understanding of the spiritual oneness of man with God, is established in consciousness, —and no other foundation is laid,— and if the mission of the church, to heal and save, is adhered to with singleness of purpose, the word of Christ Jesus stands to-day as ever, "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it." No matter what problems arise, no matter what differences of opinion there may seem to be, sooner or later "every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low," and the fact of the kingdom of God, the absolute supremacy of Truth and Love, will be demonstrated.

The history of the Christian church for nearly two thousand years has been largely a history of conflict and division. Certain branches of the church have maintained an appearance of unity, but this has been done by crushing individual thought and demonstration under the heel of ecclesiastical despotism. On the other hand, in those branches of the church where an effort has been made to preserve liberty of individual thought and action,—and this has been the case in a greater or lesser degree in all of the Protestant churches,—wide differences of opinion in doctrine, interpretation of the Scriptures, and in methods of church government, have caused almost endless discord and division. Great numbers of sects have arisen and have dissipated their strength in dispute, instead of conserving it in constructive demonstrations of Truth, all because they had no one foundation on which to stand. If the leaders of the church of the Reformation had discerned the great spiritual idea which is the only rock upon which the church can stand, if they had seen the Science or rule of reality and stated it in clear terms so that the people could have understood it, the many divisions which later developed in the church would have been prevented. But this discernment and statement remained for a woman.

Mary Baker Eddy has given to humanity the Science or absolute rule of being. She discovered it in the Scriptures, and especially in the life and teachings of Christ Jesus, and has interpreted it to human thought in terms that cannot be misunderstood by the earnest student. A church built upon this foundation cannot be shaken. The people who discern this truth and accept it stand together with love, no matter what their human differences may be. With this rock on which to stand, there is nothing to fear. We may for the time being "render . . . unto Cæsar the things which are Cæsar's," but this does not interfere with our standing and all the time rendering "unto God the things that are God's;" and sooner or later the better human form will be established.

It is the business, then, of students of Christian Science to stand on the "rock," first and always. How many times have such students in human experience proved the power of Truth to destroy the illusion of inharmony. How many times when it seemed as if the very heavens were falling about us, have we, "not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit," discovered that God was in His heaven all the time and that nothing could fall or fail but error. "In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength," is the promise. If we do our work and follow the best course, then, no matter what the results may seem to be, we know that, as Mrs. Eddy writes on page 306 of Science and Health, "Undisturbed amid the jarring testimony of the material senses, Science, still enthroned, is unfolding to mortals the immutable, harmonious, divine Principle,—is unfolding Life and the universe, ever present and eternal."

BROTHERHOOD AND SERVICE

JOHN M. DEAN

THROUGHOUT the ages mortal man has vainly tried to escape all responsibility for his brother man. It is interesting to note that the first murderer of whom we have any record sought to evade the penalty attached to his wicked deed by asking the question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" It is fair to conclude from this that the thought which would repudiate the responsibility of brotherhood is a murderous thought, however much smug complacency would deny the startling deduction. No man truly lives who lives to himself. This is not to say that one who temporarily retires from the world in order better to work out something for the benefit of mankind is not living in the truest sense. It should be plain, however, that only moral cowardice could prompt one to cut himself off from his fellows merely to escape communal responsibility or to gratify a selfish desire for solitude.

While the world has been forced to a partial recognition of man's responsibility to man, as is evidenced by the large measure of social order which has been established, it is nevertheless true that many existing social institutions are largely and sometimes altogether merely palliative in their nature. Fundamental things are too frequently ignored while great stress is placed upon superficial correctives. To the human sense of things it is so much easier to clean the outside of the platter than to cleanse it within. It is so much more pleasant and convenient to deal with mere effects than to dig beneath the surface and find the cause. While it is essentially true that God works through man, a perception of this means but little without a corresponding recognition of the fact that man is not an originator. Except as it is seen that God's laws are the only laws, and that God's plan is the only plan, the formulation of laws and plans for the government of human institutions must be as the blind leading the blind.

An understanding of the forever fact of God's supreme supervision and dominion over His universe does not lessen but heightens man's responsibility. Viewed in the only light in which it can logically be viewed, man is responsible for executing God's plans. No consistent believer in God would deny that His works are perfect, for work comes as the result of planning and always reflects the Mind that inspires it. God, the perfect and only Mind, cannot plan imperfectly, and man, reflecting God, cannot perform faulty work. Whatever appears to be wrong with the world must, therefore, be the result of a perverted conception and a corresponding erroneous application of God's symmetrical and undeviating rules.

A man's duty to his brother man is epitomized in that greatest of all commandments as enunciated by the master Christian, "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." How shall this be done? Jesus never laid down a rule without somewhere giving a clear and simple method for its performance. In fact, what men have come to know as the Golden Rule is, when spiritually understood, a panacea for every possible human ill. "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." Could anything be more explicit? And after all, is not this an answer to Cain's query, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

The keeping of the Golden Rule is only very slightly comprehended in the perfunctory performance of the ordinary obligations imposed by business honesty, humanitarianism, popular charities, and the like. In order to round out the true meaning of this saying of Jesus, men must learn to let the thoughts behind their deeds be right, or in other words spiritual. Any supposedly material goodness is, after all, only a step in advance of positive evil. True, it is a step in the right direction, but only as goodness is entirely apart from materiality and finds its whole expression spiritually, is it removed from the realm of animality where "the things of the flesh" appear to constitute the whole of the universe. Material motives and methods must constantly and progressively be displaced by higher ideals, until finally the purely spiritual and Christly plan is revealed and man is seen in the unfallen image and likeness of his Maker.

Mrs. Eddy says in Science and Health, beginning on page 476: "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick." This is in complete accord with that saying of Jesus, "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment." He who judges (estimates or conceives of) his brother rightly must cognize only the man of God's creating, and to do this he must look beyond and above the counterfeit man whose "appearance" is material. In no other way can man do his duty by his brother. To do less is to become consciously or unconsciously a mental malpractitioner. "Righteous judgment" is thus seen to be the keynote of Christian Science practice, and is the only way in which the real healing of sin, sickness, and all inharmony is brought about.

How can one destroy a false belief when he himself believes in its reality? How can a teacher enlighten a pupil unless he himself has been enlightened? It is not only our duty but our privilege to unsee error of every kind; not, of course, in the sense of overlooking it, but of overcoming it through a recognition of its negative and therefore unreal nature. The teacher of music or of mathematics takes no note of mistakes further than to correct them by showing the pupil that a musical discord or a mathematical mistake is not a part of mathematics or of music but is a falsity because it has no relation to the thing itself. Errors are not corrected by dwelling upon them. It is impossible to teach the right method in anything by stressing the wrong method. Emphasizing evil can never establish good. The wrong way is in reality no way. There can be but one real way to do anything, and that must be the right way. "God hath made man upright," says the wise man, "but they have sought out many inventions," and scholastic theology cannot much longer ignore the vivid lesson contained in that statement.

If a man would be true to his brother, he must first be true to himself, and an understanding of this is an unfailing balance wheel controlling every thought and action. When a patient comes truly ready for healing, there remains nothing for the practitioner to do but destroy in his own thought every erroneous concept regarding the one who comes to be healed. When transparent receptivity and spiritual understanding meet, the result can never for a moment be in doubt. The responsibility of the patient does not, however, reduce the responsibility of the practitioner. "Whose soever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them," said Jesus, "and whose soever sins ye retain, they are retained." The world needs to study the infinitely deep meaning of those words of the Master.

The experiences of the past few years offer convincing proof of the fact that neither men nor nations can live to themselves. Paul's statement concerning the mutual dependence of the different parts of the body was never more easily subject to metaphysical interpretation than now. While men and nations are naturally and rightfully individual, their very individuality must of necessity finally find expression in the varied qualities of helpfulness. No man or nation possesses the right to exercise a hampering influence in the affairs of another man or nation, but a proper perception of mutual obligations is now more than ever recognized as essential to true helpfulness. He lives best who serves most. Unselfish service is after all the only true method of prayer, for no man can serve God except by serving his brother.

The fatherhood of God predicates the brotherhood of man. No longer do thinking men protest their right to indulge in strong drink or in any other form of wrongdoing to the jeopardy of their neighbor's rights of peace and safety. No longer do the progressive nations of the world hope or wish to hold themselves aloof from the affairs of their fellow nations by the practice of an asserted right of "splendid isolation." God's spiritual law of progress has written this lesson indelibly on the hearts of men. A new era is in the making and none can set back the hands of the clock. More than ever a man is seen as his brother's keeper, although the true meaning of this responsibility is just beginning to be understood. Mrs. Eddy has said (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 90): "It is always right to act rightly; but sometimes, under circumstances exceptional, it is inexpedient to attack evil. This rule is forever golden: 'As ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them.' Do you desire to be freed from sin? Then help others to be free; but in your measures, obey the Scriptures, 'Be ye wise as serpents.' Break the yoke of bondage in every wise way. First, be sure that your means for doing good are equal to your motives; then judge them by their fruits." When the square of divine intelligence is consistently applied to every problem as it arises, there can be no doubt as to what is right and what is wrong, and this understanding will enable us to discern unerringly the line of demarcation between meddlesome interference and constructive helpfulness.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE: DIVINE METAPHYSICS

EDWARD NASH

METAPHYSICS is a term constantly found in the many writings of our Leader, Mrs. Eddy. It is often found coupled with the words, "divine" or "Christian." The term metaphysics is of course well understood as referring to subjects in the realm of mind, but amongst philosophers it has never been held to be entirely unconnected with physics. It was not, that is to say, considered as ultraphysical, or as referring to anything to be comprehended by other than the material senses, because these writers could conceive of no other means of thought than that of a material mind, or mind in a material brain. The more modern philosophers who wrote on metaphysics in the early part of the eighteenth century,—especially the Scotch metaphysicians such as Reid, Hamilton, and Dugald Stewart, who notably influenced thought in Boston,—perhaps prepared the ground for the reception of Mrs. Eddy's great discovery a few years later.

This discovery, however, as will be seen, was an actual confounding of all previous writing on metaphysics. There is neither similarity nor affinity between the writings of Mrs. Eddy and those of Plato, Aristotle, Hegel, Kant, Leibnitz, and others. Some of these philosophers asserted that the absolute, the infinite,—or the "unconditional" as some called it,—was unknowable, whilst others contended that it was knowable; but none ventured to assert that there could be anything to know with, other than the finite human mind. Manifestly, the finite could not really know the infinite. It remained for Mrs. Eddy, with deeper spiritual insight, to cut the Gordian knot,—literally with "the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God,"—by her statement and by proof with demonstration that true man does know the infinite God, just because, being spiritual and not material, he has access to the one Mind, God, the source of all intelligence. Therefore there is nothing that man cannot know, —that is to say, nothing which pertains to good, God. It follows, then, that evil, the opposite of good, cannot be known as an entity either by God or man, and that it must therefore be an illusion of a supposed mortal or carnal mind, which is actually nonexistent.

It had always been held by the old writers—and many still repeat it—that the only real knowledge a man can have is that of his own existence; that he can say with certainty, "I am," and nothing more. This was a known tenet in Egypt in the days of Moses; for when Moses was afraid to approach his own people with the message of deliverance,—knowing no name by which he could indicate the divine source of his message, yet wishing to impress upon the people his own conviction of the unity, or one-ness, of all existence,—he was led to say, "I AM hath sent me unto you." It is to be noted also that these words were confirmed, in the manner of Christian Science, by demonstration.

Divine metaphysics postulates the knowledge of God as not only possible but as the one and only essential for harmonious existence, and states that the means by which God is to be known is a spiritual, not a material, sense. Mrs. Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 209), "Spiritual sense is a conscious, constant capacity to understand God," and on page 261 she writes, "Detach sense from the body, or matter, which is only a form of human belief, and you may learn the meaning of God, or good, and the nature of the immutable and immortal."

Now, it is very evident that human beings must have had from all time some sort of capacity to understand God, for otherwise there would not have been that constant search after the knowledge of the unseen which characterizes the writings of thinkers in all ages. As long ago as the time when the beautiful book of Job was written, the desire for and the benefits to be expected from a true knowledge of God, were displayed. Eliphaz the Temanite said, "Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee," and then follows a description of what that good will be, and of how this knowledge will enable a man to help his fellow. When Job himself at last gained the consciousness of the immanent Christ, he cried, "I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear; but now mine eye seeth thee."

The search for the knowledge of God is not a vain search; it is attainable not through material sense but just in proportion as material sense disappears. The physical scientists, however, have denied this capacity to understand God, just because they have not been able to recognize any capacity outside the physical senses emanating from a human brain. Men have been put off with such excuses as these, and have been given dogma and doctrine instead of instruction, sometimes with deliberate intent to retain control over men's consciences and action, sometimes because of palpable ignorance. With men thus guided, there could be nothing in the world but dissension, conflict, and war, leading to tyranny, depression, disease, and want.

All through the ages there has, however, been a gradual approach to a better knowledge of Truth, but the vain contentions of the old philosophers and theologians, their subtle phrases, lengthy words, and obscure passages have done nothing to enlighten and much to blind mankind. When Sir William Hamilton, one of the great Scotch philosophers, was charged with being obscure in his writings, he replied, "There are, I may be allowed to say, two kinds of obscurity, one the fault of the writer,—the other of the reader." In divine metaphysics, however, there can be no obscurity, either on the part of the writer or of the reader, since divine Mind is the source of all intelligence. It is not dependent upon a so-called cultivated human intellect. A child can understand it, and a child can demonstrate its truth. Surely we can say with the Master, "I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes."

The old metaphysical systems thus differ from divine metaphysics, divine Science, or Christian Science in this: Christian Science finds that a knowledge of God is attainable; that it is the only real knowledge; that, as Mrs. Eddy writes on page 465 of Science and Health, "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love;" that He is the only Ego, the one I AM; that there are neither spirits, souls, nor minds; that God is omnipotent, omnipresent, and omniscient, and therefore that there is no other power, no other presence, and no other intelligence; that man is not material, but is the spiritual reflection, conception, expression, or idea of God; that human, mortal mind and personality is an illusion, a myth; that there is no matter and hence no mind in matter; that the real is spiritual; and that all this is truth, demonstrable, capable of proof, and cognizable to mankind in proportion as material sense disappears. The proof lies in the demonstration of the power of God through the understanding and spiritual thinking of man, and it consists in the overcoming of sin, sorrow, sickness, discord, want, oppression, cruelty, and in the complete breaking down of all so-called material laws, which would limit the action of man's legitimate dominion.

That all causation is in Mind has been recognized from the early ages, but as long as causation was traced to many individual mortal minds, nothing but confusion could occur. Hence material modes of dealing with all the apparent evil in the world have been adopted, tried, and adhered to in spite of unsatisfactory results. In the teaching of religion, in the law courts, in the sick room, in the council chamber, in the university, and in the school, material cause has held sway. Matter is still the popular idol. But, as in the evolution and development of physical science matter becomes daily more attenuated, cause is more and more traced to mentality, and a new quasi-metaphysical tendency begins to appear. Herein lies the great danger to those who are not watchful and cognizant of the more subtle methods which are displacing the old ideas. Evil appears to assume forms more and more obscure before it is finally destroyed.

Between material sense and spiritual sense,—between divine metaphysics and the metaphysics of the schools, there is the great gulf fixed which separated Lazarus from Dives; but this gulf has been bridged by the Discoverer of Christian Science. Is not this the greatest achievement since the time of Christ Jesus? Has any science, any philosophy, or any religious doctrine ever done anything to teach man the knowledge of God and so save him from the terrors, vices, sicknesses, and sorrows which plague his mortal existence? No. Physical science, art, philosophy, and human organizations have merely palliated existence, so that after ages of ignorance and wrong thinking the cynic's definition of happiness as an "utterly insecure respite from intolerable suffering," has become apparently true. The great philosophers have never brought men nearer to the kingdom of heaven, the reign of harmony and immortality.

It would seem that so great a discovery as that of Mrs. Eddy in 1866 should have convulsed the world; but our Master, Christ Jesus, said, "The kingdom of God cometh not with observation; neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you." To each one must come, somehow, somewhere, the conviction that God is knowable and that this knowledge, when attained, will fulfill all his desire. To gain this knowledge there is only one way, and that way is the Christ, the Word which was made flesh and "dwelt among us." The Father is known through the Son, the pure, perfect, unfallen, spiritual image and likeness of God—the Christ or divine idea. When Philip said to the Master, "Shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us," the reply came, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father," and then followed the wonderful words, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do, shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father. . . . The Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you." Wonderful promises indeed, and they are being fulfilled to-day through the enlightened understanding which Christian Science has brought to mankind.

Christ Jesus showed the way, but his teaching has been sadly misunderstood. Few indeed of his immediate followers understood either his sayings or the full import of his life and compassionate deeds. Nevertheless, his works could not pass away. If they remained hidden in a mist of self-seeking, material thought for more than eighteen hundred years, what matters it, since to-day they are revealed through the writings of a devoted, inspired, and self-denying woman? Those who have studied the Bible in connection with "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" have found a new existence; those who have read Mrs. Eddy's books testify to healing and to a spiritual insight which far outweighs all merely physical relief. Her great work in teaching and in helpful organization, based on Principle, has circled the earth, and has established divine metaphysics as the true and only basis of that knowledge of God, the infinite and the absolute, which the Master said was eternal life.

PARTNERS OF A GLORIOUS HOPE

HAZEL MARGARET MONTGOMERY

TO-DAY as never before humanity is struggling to redeem itself from various forms of bondage and oppression, while from all sides come ceaseless reports of the plans of autocracy, greed, militarism, ignorance, and racial prejudice to thwart mankind's desire for peace. Little by little it is becoming clear that the unity and freedom of mankind have not begun to be achieved except where the masses of individual men and women have awakened to higher and holier ideals of life. Christian Science shows how this awakening can be brought about, and has hastened it by giving to unnumbered thousands not only health and the desire to use their lives more unselfishly, but also the knowledge of how to gain the ideals for which men are striving but which as yet have been but dimly glimpsed. Christian Science confers an understanding of the reality and power of the ideal; it accepts as true ideals only those ideas which emanate from the Mind "which was also in Christ Jesus," and, in accepting them as the basis of reason and action, there is brought about the achievement of true idealism in individual human experience. On page 100 of "Miscellaneous Writings," Mrs. Eddy says: "Science speaks when the senses are silent, and then the evermore of Truth is triumphant. The spiritual monitor understood is coincidence of the divine with the human, the acme of Christian Science."

Although Christ Jesus revealed the ideal man, mankind believed for the most part, until Mrs. Eddy gave to the world her great discovery, that Jesus' command to his followers to be perfect, as the Father in heaven is perfect, was impracticable. Men had been content to cling to lesser so-called ideals, which, not emanating from the divine Mind, were undemonstrable because not truly ideal at all. Jesus proved that the real man is perfect, and that nothing imperfect is man. Christian Science, following closely the words and example of Jesus, explains clearly why man is and always has been the perfect idea, or son, of the perfect Principle, or Father. To human sense, trammeled as it is by the false belief that matter, the nonintelligent, is a creator, and that man is a finite mortal, the fact so tenderly stated in the first epistle of John, that "now are we the sons of God," is not apparent, until, wearied with the fruits of the belief in a material creation—sin, sickness, and death—the human mind turns for relief to the contemplation of spiritual causation. Then it is that the words of John become true in individual experience, "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God," —that is, to manifest their sonship with God,—"even to them that believe on his name."

Now the Hebrews and early Christians did not use a name simply to point out an object of thought, but rather to designate the qualities and power of whatever was named; so that to "believe on his name," is to believe in the power of the qualities which Christ Jesus manifested. Bearing this in mind, the significance for us of this verse becomes clear; for are not they who believe on his name and who receive him the ones who accept as power the qualities which he manifested,—the qualities of love, meekness, and unwavering trust in Spirit? They indeed lose not a moment in beginning to lay aside the belief that there is any power in hate, matter, mysticism, or in anything else that our Master did not manifest or teach his followers to believe in. Thus they begin to put on the Mind of Christ and to prove that man is unified in the glory—or reflection—of God.

To all who perceive the import of Jesus' life as elucidated in the textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, there comes the vision of the universal and practicable individual utilization of the Christ, or Truth, to prove here and now that the reality of man is God's own child. All true Christian Scientists are partners in this glorious hope for humanity. They humbly desire to be worthy of the prayer which Jesus uttered on the Mount of Olives, "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us." Here and now this blessed unity which our Master prayed might be realized by his followers enters our individual experience in proportion as the Mind of Christ governs our individual thinking. Mrs. Eddy writes on page 242 of Miscellany, "Unless you fully perceive that you are the child of God, hence perfect, you have no Principle to demonstrate and no rule for its demonstration."

This sonship, or individual at-one-ment with the Father, which Jesus unswervingly enunciated and demonstrated and for which Mrs. Eddy here explains the absolute necessity, is fundamental to a right solution of all human relationships, for, as she also says on page 262 of Science and Health, "The foundation of mortal discord is a false sense of man's origin." Mankind will have peace and achieve the ideal only as this false sense is dispelled. Those thousands throughout the world who are even now partakers in this partially achieved hope of the adoption, yea, the redemption not only of our bodies but of the whole human consciousness, are living witnesses to the healing power of the Christ. Because of their works done in his name,—that is, with his qualities of thought, they can say with John: "We know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true, and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God, and eternal life."

UNIVERSAL LOVE

LOUISE FANNY BODMER

ON page 13 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mrs. Eddy writes: "Love is impartial and universal in its adaptation and bestowals. It is the open fount which cries, 'Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters.'" There is no place where it cannot reach us, no person who cannot be benefited by it, no need that cannot be met through it. Indeed, its very presence is all-sufficiency. It is the very Mind that does all thinking, the Principle that underlies all being; it is God, the All-in-all, the only is-ness there is. On page 140 of her textbook Mrs. Eddy writes, "The Christian Science God is universal, eternal, divine Love, which changeth not and causeth no evil, disease, nor death."

Now God being all and the only cause, what is there to bring into our experience the opposite of that which is? What is it that causes the child to make mistakes in solving his mathematical problems, but his ignorance of the fundamentals of mathematics, the laws or rules of its application? In this same way, we can trace all error back to its original source—ignorance of Principle, Love, and of its laws. Error, sin, and sickness do not exist, since Love universal fills all space and can conceive of its opposite as little as light can see darkness. Loving, divine Principle is the only cause, and as we get an understanding of this we can obey the commands of our Master to preach the gospel, heal the sick, and cast out demons.

As Jesus went through the streets of Jerusalem or walked on the lake shores of Galilee he did those works which were to prove the divine origin of his mission. Then, as now, the human elements of which the mortal mind is composed confronted the Christ and claimed the right of existence, but they could not then and cannot now resist the Love that is Truth. Jesus saw the error, the falsity, hypocrisy, and the pitiless reigning of mortal beliefs in the name of law and through the belief in the reality of the carnal mind, but he saw them for what they were—error, lies, claiming to be where, in truth, is their very opposite, the expression of Truth and Love. So benign and clear was his understanding of the reality of good and subsequent unreality of its opposite, error, that false belief had to vanish as darkness before light. It is this understanding of infinite Love that Christian Science teaches, which is the power that heals all our diseases and casts out demons.

It does not, as some seem to think, teach that healing comes simply through overlooking error or, ostrich-like, putting the head in the sand and then believing evil is not. It is absolute Science and operates by law, and this law, applied and demonstrated, corrects the erroneous concept of things, and then the healing follows as surely as the day follows the night.

The Christian Science God, Principle, has nothing in common with the material belief of a God who sees good and evil and bestows His good in a partial, unfair way; nor with a human sense of love that to-day pours out its affection on some one and believes it can hate him to-morrow. But, as the Bible teaches, our God is "the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever," unchangeable divine Love, adaptable in every circumstance, a present help that never faileth.

We must learn, however, to know this Love which is so different from its human counterfeit, in order to avail ourselves of its blessings, and this can be done only through faithful adherence to its laws and the demonstration of it in our daily lives. It is this Love divine that heals, but we can never expect to help others or ourselves by merely repeating over and over sentences that are considered helpful. The cross of self-renunciation must be taken up, and the experiences which such an effort is bound to bring to broaden our understanding must be seen as opportunities for progress on the road to the understanding of Love. Whenever we are clear ourselves, we can help to enlighten others. In this way we are preaching the gospel, not through words but by example and precept. Is not this what Jesus did? He knew that not one could be beyond the pale of universal Love.

We read in the Bible that he sat at meat with publicans and sinners, and when the Pharisees upbraided him for this, his answer was: "They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." His great compassion enabled him to discern clearly the desire for pure, divine Love that brought those publicans, in meek humility, to the feet of him who reflected Love. Through pride and self-righteousness, the Pharisees deprived themselves not only of the blessed teachings of Jesus but also of the joy of feeding those hungry ones with the comfort of Truth.

Have we not the "publicans and sinners" with us to-day, just as they were then, seeking peace and wholeness? The very fact that they seem to manifest evil passions is proof of their great need of the truth, and where there is a need, there is supply, —this is the nature of universal Love. Our duty is to reflect that intelligence which will enable us also to discern the need of our brethren, to be charitable toward all so that no sense of self-righteousness can hinder us. Those who seem to have wandered far on the wrong road may need to see but the demonstration of that divine Principle which is infinitely above the material sense of love. It never leads to self and does not condemn, but saves and heals. The very darkness into which false beliefs and the love of self have led them will make them hunger and thirst for the light of spiritual Love; for, to quote Mrs. Eddy again (Science and Health, p. 368), "The greatest wrong is but a supposititious opposite of the highest right." The desire and search of all is for happiness, and, as the true way is pointed out, those seeking will be receptive to the teachings of Christian Science and glad to exchange the erroneous way for the way that leads to God.

How happy Christian Scientists should be to have gained some understanding of Love's demonstrable law and the blessed assurance that, as Mrs. Eddy says on page 150 of her book "Miscellaneous Writings," "Not more to one than to all, is God demonstrable as divine Life, Truth, and Love; and His people are they that reflect Him—that reflect Love."

MUTUAL SERVICE

ANITA GRAY LITTLE

THE Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, has announced to the world her concept of The Christian Science Monitor, on page 353 of "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany," where she says: "I have given the name to all the Christian Science periodicals. The first was The Christian Science Journal, designed to put on record the divine Science of Truth; the second I entitled Sentinel, intended to hold guard over Truth, Life, and Love; the third, Der Herold der Christian Science, to proclaim the universal activity and availability of Truth; the next I named Monitor, to spread undivided the Science that operates unspent. The object of the Monitor is to injure no man, but to bless all mankind." Unquestionably this international daily newspaper is fulfilling its mission, as thousands of grateful readers from all parts of the world can testify. It is carrying a blessing into every walk of life, meeting human need with the truth about the affairs of men—civil, commercial, domestic, national, and international. With each issue goes forth a clear statement of Christian Science, completing its full mission. Every department of the Monitor has its own special message to impart, the consideration of which is most instructive and helpful, but it is the mission of this article to emphasize the value and importance of the advertising department and its service to advertisers as well as to the subscribers.

On first acquaintance with The Christian Science Monitor, the writer felt she had interest and time only for the Home Forum and editorial pages, ignoring completely the advertisements and scanning carelessly the other features. As thought expanded, however, to a fuller understanding of the mission of the Monitor as a whole, as "undivided" expression of Principle, it was clearly seen that no part of its message could be so wholly ignored, without a corresponding loss on the part of the subscriber. The advertising from all parts of the world brings a message to each one of its readers and if it is to be understood rightly this branch of the Monitor's activities must be viewed from the standpoint of mutual service, of cooperation and support from each individual subscriber. When each Monitor reader views advertising from the standpoint of mutual service, of giving as well as receiving, there opens up a new field of practical service into which each one may enter to do his share and enjoy thereby a twofold blessing. In view of the large percentage of Monitor space that is devoted to advertisements, this branch of its work is certainly worthy of careful consideration on the part of every reader. Let each subscriber ask himself, "What message do the advertisements bring to me? What is my responsibility in return?"

He who has grasped the healing message of the Monitor, knows that wherever it goes it is revealing the Christ-spirit, which breaks down misunderstandings between men and nations and points untiringly to the solution of all problems according to Principle. Even the most casual observer to-day realizes that the nations are torn with unsolved industrial and commercial problems. Because of the Monitor's powerful influence for good it is needed in the business world as never before.

Every business concern appearing in the advertising columns of the Monitor is, consciously or unconsciously, entering that realm of Principle which stands for absolute honesty, cooperation, and service to humanity. They are offering honest values to the multitude of Monitor readers all over the world. Have you and I, appreciating as we must this high standard of service, stopped to acknowledge and reciprocate this offer in the true spirit of brotherhood? Do we look to the advertising columns of the Monitor to help meet our own human needs and show our gratitude for their confidence in our daily newspaper by patronizing them, and do we make the effort to express to them our appreciation for their use of this paper as an advertising medium? This is one very practical way we can help to solve the business problems of these individual advertisers, as well as of the whole world, just to satisfy them that their confidence is well placed and profitable, to give them loving support in return, and thus to keep the Monitor constantly flowing into the commercial world in ever increasing volume.

Every business house using The Christian Science Monitor as an advertising medium, receives a free copy of the issue in which its advertisement appears. Hundreds of Monitors are thus circulated daily, bringing many business men a blessing of which they may have been ignorant before. Numerous instances have been cited where healings, physical as well as financial, have resulted from receiving Monitors in this way. Such is the power of Truth and the universal law of Love that "whatever blesses one blesses all," as Mrs. Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 206) in the passage which reads, "In the scientific relation of God to man, we find that whatever blesses one blesses all, as Jesus showed with the loaves and the fishes,—Spirit, not matter, being the source of supply." In many instances business policies have been changed to a higher standard of justice and honor and a better understanding between employer and employee is being brought about, paving the way for a firmer foundation for the business of the future. Should we not rejoice that the opportunity is open to each one of us to assist in this great reconstruction period?

The way of progress is through the open gates of gratitude. It is a fuller understanding of our Leader's concept of The Christian Science Monitor and its mission that awakens all to a deeper sense of gratitude and to their individual responsibility in helping to extend its blessing to all mankind. Our part is so simple and yet so far-reaching. It has been wisely stated that "opportunity, understood, becomes responsibility." When we really grasp the full significance of the Monitor's influence in the world and see our relation to its activities of good, then opportunity and responsibility become clear to each one of us and we find the fulfillment joy-giving. In "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 1) we find these words from Mrs. Eddy's pen: "To kindle all minds with a gleam of gratitude, the new idea that comes welling up from infinite Truth needs to be understood."

CRITICISM

LAWRENCE THOMPSON

ONE of the commonest characteristics of the so-called human mind is a lack of precision. This vagueness may be traced to the common tendency to accept prevalent beliefs and suggestions rather than to take the trouble to search for the underlying truth, and it is most in evidence where the sensuous beliefs of life and intelligence in matter hold sway. It is probably under such influences as these that a large number of words have apparently lost their original meaning and to the average man have come to have an entirely different sense. Of course there are always those who get beneath this shallow covering, but so far as the man in the street is concerned, and this term includes the majority of human beings, the prevailing belief is accepted without question.

The word "criticism," which is derived from a Greek word meaning "to judge, discern," is a case in point. From this definition it is readily seen that the faculty of true criticism is indispensable to progress, but the popular meaning of the word includes little more than mere faultfinding and destructive censure.

One sometimes hears remarks to the effect that statements in the Bible are contradictory, and even the admonitions of Jesus are occasionally subjected to such comment. A careful study of the context will remove the ambiguity in most cases, as for instance the statements of our Master, "Judge not, that ye be not judged," and, "Judge righteous judgment." On the former occasion it is clear that Jesus was administering a rebuke to the common tendency of picking out and magnifying what appears to be wrong in others and at the same time making no effort to overcome what seem one's own errors. In the latter case he was urging his hearers to "judge not according to the appearance;" in other words, he was pointing out how essential it is to separate error from truth, and thus be able intelligently to reject the former and accept the latter, thereby exercising the true function of criticism.

True criticism is always constructive. It never pulls down unless it is able to substitute something better. This is perhaps the surest and most direct test one can apply to distinguish the true from the counterfeit. When properly understood, it enables one to separate the tares from the wheat in every situation, and in this way it is of great value to the race, for by its means progress may be made and lessons learned which, without it, could only be attained by passing through the harder schools of experience and suffering. The necessity for sound judgment was perceived by the old prophets. In this respect the book of Proverbs is especially rich and Paul's epistles to Timothy are also very helpful, besides clearly indicating the apostle's views on this matter.

It is generally agreed that John was the disciple "whom Jesus loved," and what better proof could we have that true criticism is in harmony with love than this disciple's admonition, "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God." A false sense of love would have one accept that which is less than perfect, and thereby condone and perpetuate errors which progress demands shall be destroyed and cast aside. The subtle nature of this error is realized when one is able to discern the true nature of Love, which includes a right sense of criticism.

On page 313 of Science and Health Mrs. Eddy says, "Jesus of Nazareth plunged beneath the material surface of things, and found the spiritual cause." This necessity for plunging beneath the material surface of things is referred to both in the Scriptures and Mrs. Eddy's writings,—the following from page 95 of Science and Health being especially significant: "The greater or lesser ability of a Christian Scientist to discern thought scientifically, depends upon his genuine spirituality. This kind of mind-reading is not clairvoyance, but it is important to success in healing, and is one of the special characteristics thereof." On one occasion Jesus said to the Pharisees and Sadducees, "O ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the signs of the times?" The writer was greatly helped by a careful study of these passages on one occasion when struggling with a sense of failure to make a demonstration, for they revealed clearly what was necessary. Mortal mind is sometimes inclined to become impatient and even angry on occasions of this kind. Assuming the rôle of a martyr, it occasionally takes the position that it has done all that is possible, becomes very sorry for itself, and impudently assumes that Truth is at fault, when a little self-examination would reveal all this self-righteousness to be "filthy rags," as the prophet Isaiah says.

Beginning on page 570 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy says, "Many are willing to open the eyes of the people to the power of good resident in divine Mind, but they are not so willing to point out the evil in human thought, and expose evil's hidden mental ways of accomplishing iniquity," and she continues: "Why this backwardness, since exposure is necessary to ensure the avoidance of evil? Because people like you better when you tell them their virtues than when you tell them their vices." This is work that must be done before Truth is acknowledged as supreme in all the affairs of men. Before one is competent to perform such tasks, however, he needs to have mastered personal sense and human will. The individual who is overcome with resentment when his own errors are pointed out is not qualified to judge those of others. It is impossible to teach others what we do not understand ourselves. Amongst this type may be included those who are constantly criticizing others behind their backs, but who have neither courage nor honesty enough to speak to the person concerned. To mortal sense this may seem hard judgment in some cases where the weakness appears to be excusable, but it should be remembered that this conduct produces some of the most difficult of supposititious conditions. It also breaks the primary rules for Christian conduct laid down by Jesus the Christ as recorded in Matthew xviii:15. A wide-awake Christian Scientist will never be deceived into either expressing or listening to such beliefs, because of their evil tendency. The fact that such conditions exist, however, shows the necessity for seeing that nothing is accepted which cannot stand the light of Truth.

Pure motives and discernment of the underlying facts concerning any situation are essential preliminaries to any expression of criticism. When these conditions are fulfilled and the truth is realized as the only consciousness, spiritual power will be present, and this will overcome the fault or supersede the false sense. Without this ability to reflect the power of Truth no one can claim that his criticism is wholly right. The mere habit of condemning and finding fault is the carnal mind's antipode of, and bears no relationship to, true criticism. One may rest assured that any criticism which springs from bad feeling, unkindness, harshness, or uncharitableness is wholly wrong.

Intellectual pride is also a snare which has to be reckoned with, and here one may remember that, as Paul says, "God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise." The incident of Balaam's rebuke from his ass, as recorded in the twenty-second chapter of Numbers, also serves to illustrate this point. The human belief in personality is very prone to personal opinions and is usually ready to criticize any individual who points away from personal explanations to the fundamental truth, as expressed in Science and Health and the other works of our Leader, as the most satisfactory guide in all the affairs of life. When we know that the tendency of the carnal mind is to attempt to reverse truth, it behooves us to use only the very clearest means of expression.

If one is constantly turning his thought to God, he will grow in grace so as to be able to speak a word in season without any personal feeling, when it is necessary to do so, and will neither shrink from his duty nor take the opposite extreme and exercise an excess of zeal without knowledge.

THE ONENESS OF CHRISTIANITY AND CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

EMMA C. SHIPMAN

WHEN John the Baptist sent two of his disciples to Jesus to ask if he were the Christ, Jesus sent them back with the message, "Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see: the blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them." Here was the practical proof of Christianity, the proof which Jesus, its highest earthly exponent, gave and demanded of his followers. We have a correlative statement by Mrs. Eddy in "Rudimental Divine Science" (p. 6), "The proof of what you apprehend, in the simplest definite and absolute form of healing, can alone answer this question of how much you understand of Christian Science Mind-healing." If the highest exponents of Christianity and Christian Science agree regarding the evidence which shall show whether one is really a Christian and a Christian Scientist, their followers may well examine themselves to see if they are giving this evidence in their lives.

If the healing proofs are not forthcoming, there should come the cry on every side: "What is the reason? Why am I not healing the sick? How can I do better work? Where is the lack?" The only verbal answer to these questions is found in the teachings of Jesus and of Mrs. Eddy. When Peter failed in his attempt to walk to Jesus on the water, Jesus said to him, "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt," and on another occasion he said to his disciples, "This kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting," and Mrs. Eddy interprets his words: "The animus of his saying was: Silence appetites, passion, and all that wars against Spirit and spiritual power" (Miscellany, p. 339). By retiring each day into our closet, the sanctuary of Spirit, and praying to our Father, we shall find what the beam is in our own eye, which prevents our removing the mote from our brother's eye.

We need to give time to self-analysis and self-correction, but it is well to remember that self-condemnation and self-pity are not healing qualities, and that a sense of humor helps in overcoming one's own faults as well as those of others. Jesus warned his disciples against self-aggrandizement, hypocrisy, inertia, ease in matter, in short against all the claims of animal magnetism. What barriers can we put up against these evils except purely mental ones, and how are we to go to work? It is exceedingly simple if we follow the spiritual interpretation of the works and words of our Master. We have just one place given us in which to work, and that is our consciousness. Let us consider how much space we give to gossip, scandal, petty jealousy, and how much to prayer, communion with God, meditation on the things of Soul.

Shall we be less high-minded than Thoreau, who wrote: "I am astonished to observe how willing men are to lumber their minds with rubbish, to permit idle rumors, tales, incidents, even of an insignificant kind, to intrude upon what should be the sacred ground of the thoughts. . . . I believe that the mind can be profaned by the habit of attending to trivial things, so that all our thoughts shall be tinged with triviality. They shall be as dusty as stones in the street. Our very minds shall be paved and macadamized, their foundation broken into fragments for the wheels of travel to roll over. . . . I think we should treat our minds as innocent and ingenuous children whose guardians we are—be careful what objects and what subjects are thrust on their attention. I think even facts . . . may dust them by their dryness, unless they are effaced each morning, or rather rendered fertile by the dews of fresh and living truth. . . . How many things there are concerning which we might well deliberate whether we had better know them."

Is it possible to dwell consciously in the realm of pure Spirit all of the time? one may ask. It is plain to be seen in our present stage of growth one does not and cannot, but we can constantly gain in spiritual understanding until we reach the standard of the Christ. Christian Scientists should be very careful that they are not deterred from the little deeds of kindness, little words of love that this earth so much needs. To the real man there is no sorrow, but mortals are often passing through sorrow. Shall we try to lighten their grief simply by declaring the facts of real being, or shall we try also to bring the fact of the unreality of sorrow to human comprehension while expressing tenderness, also compassion, and comfort, which are qualities of true being, so that the sufferer can in a measure understand God's tender love and feel His nearness.

Jesus showed forth the divine Life through the greatness of his human living. When sin in others confronts us do we draw aside and cast cold looks and unkind thoughts, or do we remember and act on Jesus' saying, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone." Then when sin in ourselves appears, do we brush aside the feelings of regret and repentance with the absolute statement, "Evil is not real," instead of remembering that we are making it intensely real as long as we are indulging in it, and that we must correct it before we can truly say it has no reality to us.

Did you ever read of Jesus taking one disciple aside to tell him to beware of another? There is no record of his warning the others against even Judas in a personal way until the time he was to leave them all and Judas' character was to be made known to the world. Jesus was impartial and impersonal. In the moments of most severe trial he took time to perform acts of tenderness and love, as witnessed in the healing of the ear of the High Priest's servant, which impetuous Peter had cut off; and again, when he attended to the welfare of his mother while he was on the cross; and as witnessed in the interest he showed in the sinners who were being crucified with him, and in his attitude of marvelous insight toward his enemies when he asked forgiveness for them. Could we but bring that scientific and Christian application of love to the problems of to-day, we should again see the veil of the temple rent in twain, and the fallacy of unchristian living and of superficial argument would be clearly seen and superstitious worship of worldly position would vanish in the light of spiritual goodness.

The early Christians talked much of Christian grace, hospitality, and human kindness. If we neglect those amenities of social intercourse, the cordial greeting, the kindly inquiry after another's welfare, the efforts to smooth the pathway of our fellow men, especially those who are in the bonds of fellowship in our church, may it not be said of us: "I was a stranger, and ye took me not in. . . . Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me."

We must have among Christian Scientists a manhood and a womanhood capable of bringing out the highest ideals of friend, neighbor, citizen, and statesman. The future success of our organization rests largely upon our bringing into our lives noble Christian attributes. The responsibility for this rests with the individual. Isaiah heard the voice of the Lord, saying, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" And instantly he replied, "Here am I; send me." That heavenly voice is speaking to us to-day. May we all hear and respond, and uphold the trust committed to us, in all its divine purity and power, anointing all our work with oil, which Mrs. Eddy defines (Science and Health, p. 592) as, "consecration; charity; gentleness; prayer; heavenly inspiration."

THE NEW TONGUE

JAMES C. THOMAS

IN absolute Truth there is but one language, the mode of communication that the divine Mind knows. Principle communicating to its infinite idea all good is the true utterance. The unlimited spiritual man understands all that divine Spirit unfolds, and what God has for man to know is without bounds. This ideal mode of expression is the only real activity, because Mind and its idea constitute all that exists.

The glimpse which mankind has of this spiritual language makes up the world's knowledge of this "new tongue." This glimpse, however faint at present, is becoming increasingly clear as Christian Science, which reintroduced this higher sense of speaking and thinking, spreads. Those who understand this Science are they of whom Christ Jesus prophesied, "These signs shall follow them that believe; in my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues."

The perception of this absolute language of Mind reaches humanity in proportion as men acquire spiritual sense, and in the form in which they can understand it. Of this Mrs. Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," beginning on page 209: "Spiritual sense is a conscious, constant capacity to understand God. It shows the superiority of faith by works over faith in words. Its ideas are expressed only in 'new tongues;' and these are interpreted by the translation of the spiritual original into the language which human thought can comprehend." But here again, when men use this human speech, which is merely a suppositional counterfeit of the true expression of Mind, they find apparent difficulty in expressing spiritual meaning. Mrs. Eddy discusses this in Science and Health, beginning on page 114, as follows: "Apart from the usual opposition to everything new, the one great obstacle to the reception of that spirituality, through which the understanding of Mind-science comes, is the inadequacy of material terms for metaphysical statements, and the consequent difficulty of so expressing metaphysical ideas as to make them comprehensible to any reader, who has not personally demonstrated Christian Science as brought forth in my discovery. Job says: 'The ear trieth words, as the mouth tasteth meat.' The great difficulty is to give the right impression, when translating material terms back into the original spiritual tongue." Once again, on page 272 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy deals with this subject when she gives this definition of just what constitutes the "new tongue" in this human sense of things, "The spiritual sense of the Scriptures brings out the scientific sense, and is the new tongue referred to in the last chapter of Mark's Gospel."

So, just as the spiritual sense of the Scriptures is the scientific meaning into which the Scriptures must be translated out of the material terms used to express them, in the same way the spiritual sense of anything whatsoever in our daily living is the new language for explaining that particular thing. Thus, in metaphysics the utterance of the truth mentally and audibly about any given situation or thing is the new speech. Every time that a student of this Science replaces material sense with the spiritual, he is employing the scientific phraseology. He is translating; and in proportion to his understanding of the import of the letter of his translation, he experiences the happy results that are the healing in Christian Science. For example, the mortal senses might tell a man that he is living in a room in an apartment house, limited and circumscribed by inconveniences. Right there the student of Christian Science would employ metaphysical terms and affirm the inspiring truth that the spiritual man, the only man there really is, forever lives in the unlimited domain of Mind, that Mind is his home, for in Mind "we live, and move, and have our being." In consequence of his perception of this fact he would find the freshness, the peace, the freedom that divine consciousness alone can give.

It is the imperative demand of Principle that the student of Christian Science employ the "new tongue" in all his thinking. He must more and more deal in the absolute. Of course, in uttering this language audibly, in speaking to others, he must use wisdom and avoid perplexing those unacquainted with Christian Science or those just beginning to catch a glimpse of it, by a manner of speaking that would hinder their advancement, and by the use of terms the meaning of which is not understood by them. Especially is this true in the giving of testimonies, and in attempting to explain this Science to those who are just beginning to take up its study.

It is essential, however, to know and hold fast in thought to absolute metaphysics, even when speaking in a simpler language to those requiring it. Jesus employed the scientific speech, as when he raised the daughter of the ruler from the dead. "He said unto them, Give place: for the maid is not dead, but sleepeth." Because this was beyond the understanding of his hearers, "they laughed him to scorn." Again, at the time of the death of Lazarus, he said to the disciples, "Our friend Lazarus sleepeth; but I go, that I may awake him out of sleep." But when the disciples did not comprehend this, "then said Jesus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead." And also in front of the tomb, he turned to the divine Mind, cast out of his thought any sense of what his words would mean from a human standpoint of language, and explained why he had used the relative terms. He said: "Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me. And I knew that thou hearest me always: but because of the people which stand by I said it, that they may believe that thou hast sent me."

Jesus had at first spoken in the "new tongue." He knew that man could not die, because he is the deathless creation of eternal Mind. So he uttered with entire naturalness what he knew, what he was demonstrating, and was again to demonstrate when he lifted Lazarus out of the belief that he died. But the Master had addressed his thoughts audibly to ears unprepared to hear his unqualified declaration of everlasting life, "Lazarus sleepeth," and so he used the old manner of speaking, "Lazarus is dead."

Christian Scientists must think metaphysically and must speak, when it is wise, in this way. The reason for this is that since Mind and its infinite manifestation is all that truly exists, it is impossible to speak unqualified truth and not deal with the absolute. Any concession to material, relative statements is based on the rule of "suffer it to be so now," just as Jesus suffered himself, because of the need of the hour, to be baptized in a material way with material water by a human being, although he knew that the only purification or purity was the eternal perfection of Principle and its reflection, and just as he spoke relatively at the tomb of Lazarus. The world does not like to hear the "new tongue." Even when spoken wisely and from necessity according to the demands of the occasion, the speaker may find that his hearers have "laughed him to scorn," just as the Master experienced this opposition. Sincere workers in metaphysics must stand fast, however, and know always and speak on occasion the unconditional verity that infinite Mind and its manifestation constitutes the totality of being, and that, as a result, evil, laughing "to scorn," and all other mockeries of true activity simply do not exist; thus they cease even to appear to have reality.

"STREAMS OF LOVE"

SARAH B. STRASSBURGER

WHEN we consider the wealth of love in treasures of Truth that daily, weekly, monthly, and quarterly is poured into our hearts and homes, healing the human mind of its sickness and sin, its sorrow and shame, sensuality and selfishness, its vanity and vainglory, rebuking, exhorting, counseling, comforting, alight with love,—we are beggared for words with which to express our appreciation of the Christian Science publications. The periodicals may be likened to "streams of love" (Hymnal, p. 89), and does not the Publishing House remind us of that Scripture, "There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the most High;" and is it not the blessed privilege of each one of us to "make channels for the streams of love, where they may broadly run," by subscribing for the periodicals?

The statements of Truth which lift thought above the sordidness of earth cannot be learned or appreciated in the mental realm where values are estimated in terms of dollars and cents. Often when thought has thus been uplifted through the study of an article in one of our periodicals, the reader is heard to say, "That article is worth the year's subscription price." What an absurd statement! Can a monetary value be placed on that which lifts man's thought to God and makes His nearness a felt fact? Sometimes one paragraph will give such a spiritual illumination that never again can he who reads stand in just the place where he stood before its message came to him. These periods of ascension are without measure in terms of sense, and only he who is seeking the kingdom of heaven first, rightly values them. To such a one the cost of all the periodicals is negligible.

The writer's experience with Der Herold der Christian Science has been so gratifying that she desires to give it to those who do not see the necessity of subscribing for a paper they cannot read. Our Leader tells us in Science and Health (p. 206),

"In the scientific relation of God to man, we find that whatever blesses one blesses all, as Jesus showed with the loaves and the fishes,—Spirit, not matter, being the source of supply," and who has not learned that obedience to by-laws brings its own reward, and that if we make "channels for the streams of love," love is ready to flow into them. One of these streams is Der Herold, but unless we make it a channel by subscribing for it, we miss so much of love, robbing ourselves and those to whom we may give again this light bearer. The writer cannot read German. This seemed to her to be a good excuse for not subscribing for Der Herold. She sometimes said, by way of excuse, that she never had a German patient, which was only another subterfuge without a reason for its use. We in Christian Science know that thoughts are things which invite or repel as the case may be; in other words, which bring forth after their kind. The following incident proves this to be true. The first copy of Der Herold received, reminded her of a German lady who was investigating Christian Science, so the copy was sent to this lady. The second copy followed the first and then the lady came to her and said with a joyful light in her eyes: "There is an article in that Herold that explains Christian Science so I understand it for the first time. I want to keep that copy. It is so good." She spoke so eagerly and her face was so joyous that the writer knew that she had had a glimpse of the Christ, so she assured her that she might keep it and rejoiced to know that a blessing had come to another, through her obedience.

A close study of Article VIII, Section 14, of The Mother Church Manual reveals the fact that it is not only a duty but a privilege for each member of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, to subscribe for all the periodicals. A dictionary defines privilege as a peculiar advantage,—and advantage as a benefit. The by-law means, then, that whereas it is the obvious duty for each one to subscribe for the periodicals, it is of advantage and benefit to him as well. Those who are willingly and lovingly obeying this by-law say that the benefits derived therefrom are incalculable.

Sometimes it is said, "I do not take The Christian Science Monitor, as I have no time to read it." Is this true? By no means. We, who are called to liberty, know that we have all the time there is. Indeed, we are learning to live in eternity and to realize that there is an opportunity in God's eternity for the performance of every legitimate act. No doubt Martha of old would have given the same excuse for not subscribing for the Monitor, had it been published in her day; but we are without excuse, for Jesus' loving rebuke to her falls upon the listening ear to-day, "Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things: but one thing is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her." The Marys of to-day are seeking the Christ, Truth, and count no cost too great to that end.

Do we always remember that we who claim to be awake have but one duty to perform and that is to keep ourselves awake by making channels through which love may flow to usward, that in turn we may be able to awaken others? In Article VIII, Section 6, of the Manual we find this admonition: "It shall be the duty of every member of this Church to defend himself daily against aggressive mental suggestion, and not be made to forget nor to neglect his duty to God, to his Leader, and to mankind." One of our duties to mankind is to pour out to them unstintingly true literature. Does this require self-sacrifice? Then let us remember that our Leader tells us in Science and Health, "A great sacrifice of material things must precede this advanced spiritual understanding." Let us as Christian Scientists be a law unto ourselves—a law of unlimited supply which never admits the lie, "I cannot afford to take the periodicals." As our understanding of the truth develops we shall cease to think that our needs are material and shall begin to realize that man's greatest need is to know the truth, which need is fully supplied in Mrs. Eddy's writings and in the Christian Science literature. May these streams of love flow to every portion of the globe, watering in their course the arid places of the earth and making the desert to bud and "blossom as the rose."

RESPONSIBILITY

THE curse of the world has been a false sense of responsibility. The human mind has burdened itself with the belief of being a cause, and with that has of course followed the necessity of producing effects. With this necessity has come fear of failure, worry over results, and a general loss of all of the joys of life through the pressure of attempting to create.

The human mind has attempted to classify its victims into two classes, those who are responsible or reliable and those who are irresponsible. In fact, one who is called not responsible is assumed to be not in control of his mental faculties and so without a mind, or insane. Therefore the effort of training has been to give a man a human sense of responsibility, for without that he was considered incapable of being of use in the world. The period of transition between childhood and manhood is the period of training and therefore of assuming human responsibility. Also this period is the time at which the joy and spontaneity of life usually disappears. One who does maintain his joy beyond this time is said to have kept his youth, or not to have grown up. And yet the Master said, "Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven." No statement has ever superseded Jesus' definition of the condition of thought which knows God. None is more complete, yet none is more overlooked by the aspiring human mind which is seeking to take itself into the heavenly kingdom.

The reason for this worship of responsibility is the egotistical belief of the human mind that nothing is done unless it originates in that mind. Knowing no other cause than itself, it is blissfully unconscious of any opposition to its false claims of causation and is sure that no result can be obtained except from human activity. From this belief comes the desire for a strong human will, as it is felt to be the motive power of the human mind. As a result of this education of the human will we are coming into contact with all forms of human thinking which guarantee to produce the results desired by the human mind. We see schools of salesmanship and books on the power of the educated human will, and many people have been deluded into thinking that such schemes can "profit a man."

Human desire outlines just what it wishes accomplished. Human efficiency shows what method to take, and then human will undertakes to bring the desired result to pass through the subjugation of all human wills which may conflict or interfere with the fulfillment of its plans. Its assumption of personal responsibility leads to the assumption of responsibility for others, and so the one who assumes the responsibility for the greatest number besides himself is the greatest in the kingdom of earth. But he who has the least understanding of the power of God is greater than he, "for the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God."

Jesus of Nazareth completely destroyed the bubble of egotism of this false sense of mind. He said, "I can of mine own self do nothing." He did not mean by this that nothing would be done, but that it was the Father and not the Son who was the creator, for he said, "The Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." The Father was to be responsible for the works, as they were and are His production. Again Jesus said, "For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth: and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may marvel."

There was no one point which was stressed so much in the words of Christ Jesus as this point of God's activity. God was shown to be the cause of all, and man the effect. On page 207 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mrs. Eddy says: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause." But an effect is not responsible. It responds to the cause but does not create, and so man is not responsible but responsive to God. Man is constantly responding to God. He is responding to God's goodness, health, joy, harmony, and truth. He is in a constant state of responsiveness to good but not to evil. There is nothing in man which can respond to evil, because nothing could enter him but that which came from his cause, his God.

The byways of life are crowded with the wrecks caused by an attempt of this human mind to assume the responsibility rightly belonging to God. Trained to turn to itself, human sense stands abashed before the statement, "I am the Lord, and there is none else." Joy is wiped from the experience of the one who allows this sense of false responsibility to govern him. Pressure, the weapon forged by the human will to carry out its purpose, brings its results of depression as well as suppression.

When man turns from this effort of false sense and surrenders to God he finds peace, because he has found the only cause and from that cause comes all righteous effect. But remember that when asked to surrender to God the human mind is quick with its answer: "Unless I do something, nothing will happen. I cannot become negative, a nonentity." Little does it know that all the good ever done was done by God and not by human sense. The good acts and deeds are the shining of the sun through a mist, and the mist of human responsibility would hide the glory of God's goodness and abundance more than any other phase of human limitation. So we may be content. Good will continue to come when we surrender to God. In fact, it will unfold faster than we have ever seen it before. The arguments which oppose surrendering to God are legion, but the results of carrying out the surrender are big and glorious.

"THE GREAT POINT OF DEPARTURE"

GRACE ROBERTA WASSON

THE belief of limitation claims such a variety of presentation that to list these would be an endless and useless task, yet it may fairly be said that one of the chief ways in which limitation urges its claim of reality upon humanity is in the belief and fear of restricted finance. Lives there an individual who, being entirely satisfied with fabulous wealth, is willing to stop voluntarily the inpouring of riches into his own personal coffers? Is not mortal mind much more likely to pull down its barns and build greater, that it may bestow all its fruits and goods therein, thus putting its faith in material riches and forsaking Spirit?

So slight is the understanding of what true substance is and of how it is to be obtained that the problem of income claims no small portion of the attention of mankind. Until one arrives at the understanding that plenty is mental, as all good is, he is apt to subscribe to the mesmerism that abundance is something separate and apart from consciousness. Metaphysics is forsaken in the vain attempt to reconcile these two opposites; namely, that God is All; that income is a material "Suffer it to be so now," which God knows nothing about. The conclusion is that it is of little use to turn to Mind for the solution of this very trying problem.

Now if the mortal mind arguments could be stifled and human reasoning silenced, this belief, calling itself "man in need of a larger income," would be seen for what it really is, and the lie would return unto its native nothingness. The real man knows that supply is divine idea,—infinite, limitless, unrestricted; that he, man, is inseparably linked with his creator, and that, by virtue of this, man has access to infinite supply. All good comes to man through the operation of divine law, which is but the activity of divine Mind.

"Let us rid ourselves of the belief that man is separated from God," writes Mrs. Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 91), "and obey only the divine Principle, Life and Love. Here is the great point of departure for all true spiritual growth." Each and every one, then, in working out this problem, or any other, must come to this "great point of departure,"—a complete renunciation of every material argument and its support of supposititious human law, for an unconditional surrender to Principle with its unvaried operation of divine law. The subtle argument that material labor is the cause of supply and that when the privilege or power to labor is cut off for any reason whatever, the supply automatically ceases,—this is a travesty upon intelligence and a snare which comparatively few elude. Is it not, rather, that the joy and privilege of being about the Father's business is a result of spiritual activity, and this manifestation of activity and its reward cannot be cut off?

It is comparatively easy to see that the mathematical fact, twice two equals four, is infinite in application. Every one who knows the multiplication table possesses this truth as a practical part of his understanding. He can call this into service at any time without inconveniencing or limiting any one. His incessant use of the idea can never exhaust his supply of this truth. He has it because he knows it. This is the only way man can ever really have anything. Getting is not a process of accretion, but unfoldment,—unfoldment by which we come to understand our God-given inheritance of dominion. "Get wisdom, get understanding: forget it not," admonished the preacher, and, "With all thy getting get understanding." The writer of Proverbs well knew that this getting or unfoldment was a necessary part of human experience. All there is to man is what he knows, and all that he has, he has as consciousness. This, doubtless, is why Mrs. Eddy has put understanding as the "Third Degree" of the Scientific translation of mortal mind (Science and Health, p. 116), and under the caption, "Understanding," is listed "spiritual power," which is indicative of dominion.

The understanding that income is merely the coming into individual consciousness of the truth about substance, relieves one of financial worry. The trouble is, however, that humanity has been trained to a false belief in the existence of material intermediates, auxiliaries, mediators, and has resorted to this in its effort to arrive at the desired end. Now the Christ, Truth, is the only reality, and if this spiritual truth, independent of all material intermediates, were resorted to, the right result would immediately appear. When Christ Jesus wished to be on the other side of the lake, he had no belief in clumsy intermediates and was there instantly, since he knew that time, space, and physical effort are but forms of human limitation.

Jesus knew the utter uselessness of resorting to a material remedy to bring about a desired result. When he seemed to need the opposite of what he was experiencing, this result was brought about through spiritual understanding independent of any material intermediary. Doubtless this use of the term "material remedy" may seem strength, yet would it not be resorting to material means to remedy an undesirable situation should one so well versed as Christ Jesus in the unvarying activity of God's law indorse the lie by accepting as law the restrictions of mortal mind?

On page 11 of "Unity of Good" by Mrs. Eddy, we read: "He turned the water into wine, he commanded the winds, he healed the sick,—all in direct opposition to human philosophy and so-called natural science. He annulled the laws of matter, showing them to be laws of mortal mind, not of God. He showed the need of changing this mind and its abortive laws;" and further down on the same page she continues: "Jesus required neither cycles of time nor thought in order to mature fitness for perfection and its possibilities. He said that the kingdom of heaven is here, and is included in Mind; that while ye say, There are yet four months, and then cometh the harvest, I say, Look up, not down, for your fields are already white for the harvest; and gather the harvest by mental, not material processes."

To enlarge one's income entirely by human means, whether by intensive labor, inheritance, or however it is done, is not to do away with the problem permanently. It is simply postponing the day when this very matter must be taken up scientifically and worked out according to Principle. The false belief which calls itself "man in need of a larger income," must be healed by the understanding that man has all good now; that supply is spiritual, that it is limitless, not dependent upon human conditions whether physical, political, business, or ethical; that this understanding can be practically applied to his problems as readily as his understanding of mathematics and that the cry of the high cost of living need not strike fear to his heart.

Fear is ignorance, and the fear can be cast out and the financial problem absolutely solved by resolutely meeting the occasion which brings one face to face with the "great point of departure" from the trodden Adam way to the Christ-way—that way which is the only mediator between earth and heaven, between the belief of need and the fruition of right thinking, between human ignorance and spiritual understanding. Therefore, "with all thy getting get understanding."

THE CENTENARY OF HERBERT SPENCER

THE world is keeping the centenary of Herbert Spencer's birth. He was a man of prodigious learning and of an even more prodigious industry. For a whole generation he exercised a greater influence over educated opinion than any other man of his day; nor was this influence confined to his own country; it extended from Moscow to New York, and when the news reached Paris that he had passed away, the Chambers adjourned out of respect to his attainments. Yet to-day, reading the memoirs, the appreciations, the criticisms, which the centenary has brought forth, it is impossible not to be impressed with the tone of hesitation that pervades them all. On such occasions the writer is expected to do the best for his subject. In the present instance, however, the eulogy is half-hearted, and the lack of robust appreciation marked. Still none of the critics seem quite to understand why. Yet the reason is, surely, perfectly plain. Herbert Spencer's success lay in the fact that his books were the reflection of his age. It was the age of the evolutionist and the agnostic. Macausland had dared to deal critically with Genesis, and though Oxford had cheered Disraeli when he declared himself on the side of the angels, London was unquestionably on the side of Darwin and the apes.

The world has traveled far since the mighty volumes of the Synthetic Philosophy were first given to it. It has been ranking itself ever more and more, without any Disraelian flippancy, on the side of the angels; and, as a consequence, it finds itself further and further every day from the Spencerian theory of the "unknowable," and more and more out of sympathy with the Spencerian contempt for metaphysics. It is hastening, in short, with giant strides, away from agnosticism, in an almost unconscious search for divine Science and divine metaphysics, and this for the simple reason that the teaching of Christian Science is forcing itself more and more steadily upon its attention, and proving more and more clearly after the lapse of twenty centuries, that, though heaven and earth may pass away, the words of the great Galilean teacher have not passed away.

One other thing Herbert Spencer's philosophy forced upon him. It was his conclusions with respect to character. Acquired characters were, he insisted, inherited. Such a theory scientifically places the cart before the horse. Moral codes do not produce moral sentiments. For twenty centuries the Christian world has been trained on the moral code of the Bible, without producing the effect demanded by Christ Jesus himself, namely, the repetition of the works accomplished by him. The outcome of that very training, on the contrary, was in the person of Spencer himself, an agnostic. The fact is as Mrs. Eddy writes on page 327 of Science and Health: "Reason is the most active human faculty. Let that inform the sentiments and awaken the man's dormant sense of moral obligation, and by degrees he will learn the nothingness of the pleasures of human sense and the grandeur and bliss of a spiritual sense, which silences the material or corporeal."

The fundamental fallacy, however, of Spencer's teaching was his theory of the "unknowable" and the "knowable." It might have been imagined that if a thing were unknowable, there could be nothing more to be said about it; yet Spencer had a very great deal to say about it. He was by no means content to leave the matter where Confucius left it when he declared that the unknowable, being unknowable, had better be left there. Spencer's theory eventually came to this: that if there is a First Cause it must be absolute, for the very simple reason that there being nothing left outside it, there is nothing to be brought into relation with it. Such a First Cause must consequently be infinite, and, as the human mind can know nothing of the infinite, it must be content to dismiss it as the "unknowable." Now it is precisely here that Spencer became a "mired logician." In plain English, he begged the question of the inability of mankind to know Truth, and this in the face of Jesus' famous declaration, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." This disaster to his logic is interesting, for it is one which has never disturbed his ordinary critics in the least degree. They themselves never dreamed of propounding the fact that the human mind was itself as much an unreality as all idealistic philosophy, from the time of Plato, has admitted its phenomenon matter to be; and, consequently, it has never struck them that the real solution of the problem must be found in that ignored factor which the Greek text of the New Testament calls a scientific knowledge of Spirit, but which the natural scientist has generally been satisfied to dismiss as mysticism or superstition, on the basis that so far from natural science and Spirit having any connection, the one is destructive of the other.

It must be perfectly clear from this why Spencer had such a contempt for metaphysics. Metaphysics was to him the language of the unknowable, and so itself unknowable. What he failed to recognize was the meaning of the famous statement of his great opponent, Huxley, that there was such a thing as following the example of the fish of immortal memory which threw itself out of the metaphysical frying pan into the materialistic fire. "The categories of metaphysics," Mrs. Eddy writes on page 269 of Science and Health, "rest on one basis, the divine Mind. Metaphysics resolves things into thoughts, and exchanges the objects of sense for the ideas of Soul." It would have been difficult to find anything more repugnant to the whole basis of Spencerian philosophy than such a statement as that. Spencer, the evolutionist, the agnostic, asked to admit that his infinite unknowable was the divine Mind, and that the way to understand this Mind,—in other words to fathom the unknowable,—was to realize that man is the image and likeness of this Mind, and not a human biped whose origin has to be sought in a textbook on biology!

Now, of course, Spencer would have had a perfect right to ask for a proof of such a theory; but when Spencer embarked upon his Synthetic Philosophy, Science and Health had not been given to the world, and it would never have occurred to him to have sought the solution of the problem of Life in the pages of the Bible, where Mrs. Eddy found it. When he passed away, early in the present century, he had enjoyed the possibility of reading Science and Health, but to a man of his fixity of opinion and stubbornness of viewpoint, the surrender entailed would probably have been impossible. What is the consequence? In the year of the centenary of his birth his influence is rapidly fading away, whilst that of Mrs. Eddy, who was his junior by a little more than a year, is increasing every day and is covering the world with the members of a colossal movement, whose Science is based on the very ideas which were anathema to him.

Yet Mrs. Eddy, it must be remembered, was not only a philosopher, she was the most practical of scientific teachers. She was not satisfied with philosophic theories, she admitted the burden of scientific proof; and it is because of this, amongst other reasons, that the success of the movement she founded has been so remarkable. Herbert Spencer, a renowned philosopher, whose ipse dixit was accepted some half century ago by the majority of the so-called educated world, left behind him a bundle of theories in a small library of writings. Mary Baker Eddy, the unknown New England teacher of the heyday of his success, left as her legacy to the world half a dozen small volumes, and a world movement based upon an acceptance of the two simplest commands ever given by a teacher to his disciples: Preach the gospel, and heal the sick.

As a matter of fact, Spencer's treatment of the "unknowable" resolves itself into the crudest of metaphysical arguments. He is, indeed, in the logical mire from the very beginning, for he proceeds unblushingly to tell his readers certain essential facts about it, which themselves constitute a primary knowledge of it. First it exists, then it is both infinite and absolute. At this point it is obvious that the reader is beginning to know something quite considerable about it. But this is not all. True religion and true natural science, the reader is next told, admit a First Cause of all existing phenomena. The mistake of their exponents is in the attempt to go beyond this. But the philosopher had already discarded the theoretic view of a creator, as simply referring the problem of creation back to the creator; and here is he himself with a new edition of the time-honored dilemma of the world borne on the back of an elephant, itself standing on a colossal tortoise. And yet, in the centenary year of this master in the schools, there are still people who profess to regard the teaching of Mrs. Eddy as topsy-turvy.

Spencer's theory, in short, was that if you eliminated all that was untrue in what the world termed religion and science, the antagonism between the two would disappear. This surely was a self-evident proposition which would comfortably destroy the religion of the sects and the science of the schools. Mrs. Eddy maintains that religion and Science are identical, and so does the New Testament. That is precisely why Mrs. Eddy demanded that Christian religious theories should be subjected to the scientific test demanded by Christ Jesus in the repetition of his proofs of the unreality of all materiality, of sin, disease, and death. "It has been said, and truly," she writes on page 135 of Science and Health, "that Christianity must be Science, and Science must be Christianity, else one or the other is false and useless; but neither is unimportant or untrue, and they are alike in demonstration. This proves the one to be identical with the other. Christianity as Jesus taught it was not a creed, nor a system of ceremonies, nor a special gift from a ritualistic Jehovah; but it was the demonstration of divine Love casting out error and healing the sick, not merely in the name of Christ, or Truth, but in demonstration of Truth, as must be the case in the cycles of divine light."

A GOOD RECORD

IN elections, in business, in every phase of experience, it is well, of course, to consider the record of all those concerned. Any sequence of action, however, needs to be understood as a whole. No correct judgment can be based on merely disconnected instances of seeming failures or successes. A way of doing can be rightly estimated and appreciated only in proportion as it is comprehended in its entirety. In judging any record, therefore, one is sure of being right only through using the discernment which comes from infinite intelligence.

The true record, moreover, is not of persons but of Mind's activity unfolding. Seeming mistakes of people have never affected in the slightest this ceaseless unfoldment. For any human shortcomings there is always the perfect remedy in sincere reliance on Principle now. To compare the waverings of mortals with the steady course of Principle throughout eternity is to see the insignificant fading away before the divine wisdom that is and always has been indestructible. Whatever has been good endures forever, while whatever has seemed wrong never has been real. In all circumstances, the one who is alert must know that the one Mind maintains exactly the right doing that constitutes the complete happiness of the real man in the divine image.

By knowing this, each one will find himself choosing with honest assurance what is of value and rejecting what is not. Divine intelligence manifests itself as clear reasoning in any case of selection, whether of candidates, of platforms, or of anything else. Infinite Mind infallibly uses and perpetuates true experience, ability, and spiritual vigor. Genuine understanding of Principle is never in vain but is necessarily for the general good. Without any hindrance whatsoever, it sooner or later takes the place of all manner of supposed limitations. Even a deliberate turning aside from Principle can be but temporary and must count as naught in the irresistible infinity of immortal unfoldment.

Christian Science itself is the understanding of Principle. Through this understanding alone can one discern and profit from what Life has been and eternally is. Spiritual Life, joyous in its whole manifestation, certainly has a good record. It has never been tainted in the least by suppositious evil. The history of good is the history that is worth while. Often, however, one is tempted to interpret as evil what is actual good unfolding with an energy that is to be enjoyed rather than feared and avoided. In fact, the value of Christian Science is that it shows the true idea in Mind, untouched by any seeming. This does not mean that evil can ever be glossed over and called good. Instead, it means that the divine Life is altogether perfect even where a suppositional opposite would claim to be. The real experience is in Mind now and forever, quite apart from any belief in matter. The work of Christian Science is to show in detail why and how this is so.

In the midst of what the human senses would call desperate conditions, Job, after listening to "miserable comforters," exclaimed, "Behold, my witness is in heaven, and my record is on high." It is this record which is always on high that each one needs to comprehend and rejoice in. How the truth takes the place of error is ever interesting and important. The continuity of spiritual good is undeniable to the one who knows even a little of what spiritual good is. To tell of it and its availability in all sorts of conditions is to recount the old, old story of God and His idea as ever present and all-inclusive. Day by day each one is rightly comforted by the simple account of the truth in its boundless application.

Writing of the Christian Science periodicals, Mrs. Eddy once declared that The Christian Science Journal is "designed to put on record the divine Science of Truth." The passage is on page 353 of "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany": "I have given the name to all the Christian Science periodicals. The first was The Christian Science Journal, designed to put on record the divine Science of Truth; the second I entitled Sentinel, intended to hold guard over Truth, Life, and Love; the third, Der Herold der Christian Science, to proclaim the universal activity and availability of Truth; the next I named Monitor, to spread undivided the Science which operates unspent. The object of the Monitor is to injure no man, but to bless all mankind." The Journal must be, therefore, a continuous record of Truth in its unfoldment throughout the years, a record of the more and more general reasoning in accord with Principle that is bound to be of infinite benefit.

The good record of Christian Science is unimpeachable. Through many years now, it has been demonstrated anew that truly effective healing is spiritual. In its broadest sense, healing means wholeness of activity in accord with Principle. By proving what the truth is, in place of any seeming, Christian Science sets forth the real record of man in the divine likeness. No matter what suppositional phase of things may present itself, the alert understanding of Principle shows the true unfoldment that is going on. The making of war and the making of peace, for instance, must both alike be regarded in the true light. Equal suffrage, prohibition, full production, construction, labor, orderly trade,—for each of these there is the right idea, which Christian Science unerringly reveals. The application of Christian Science in the affairs of the community at large as well as in the activity of the individual must be adequately recorded. In proportion as it manifests sureness and enthusiasm in all its varied entirety, the record is worth while.

Something of what a good record is, in every sense of the word, each one may see for himself by studying, with the aid of the concordances, Mrs. Eddy's references in all her writings to the word "record" and to The Christian Science Journal. On page 262 of "Miscellaneous Writings," for instance, she says, "Dear readers, our Journal is designed to bring health and happiness to all households wherein it is permitted to enter, and to confer increased power to be good and to do good." Again, on page 285, she says, "The Christian Science Journal will hold high the banner of Truth and Love, and be impartial and impersonal in its tenor and tenets."

What better standard could there be for service than that set up in these two sentences? In public office, in business, or in any phase of daily living, the true sequence of action must indeed "confer increased power to be good and do good," and "be impartial and impersonal in its tenor and tenets." Only the activity which succeeds in doing this has a good record—is in itself a record of eternal service. Rightly to estimate effort and accomplishment is to test all doing by the infinite standard of the one divine Principle which heals. There is no other real standard for righteous judgment.

GUSTAVUS S. PAINE.

EARLY one morning, while I was working as an engineer in a large hotel in Boston, my hand was caught in a belt on a small engine. The engine was not running at high speed, but I was drawn into it and thrown over into the space between it and the ammonia condenser. The set screws on the hub of the eccentric had practically torn my arm to pieces before it was freed from the belt that caught it.

There was no pain, but I knew that something must be done at once. I started for the other side of the building to get help. I knew that the house doctor would be called and the chief engineer, but I wanted a practitioner. So I told some one to telephone for my friend to come at once. The doctor and the chief engineer arrived shortly. There was not much that the doctor could do; the tourniquet that the porter and I had rigged on my arm was holding nicely. He naturally insisted that I should be taken to the hospital, and sent for the ambulance; but I objected because I felt that, once there, my arm would be cut off. When the practitioner arrived he quieted my fears and told me that the doctor was right—the hospital was the place for me; to go right along and not to worry; that they would not cut my arm off.

Well, I went and they did not cut my arm off, though the young doctor that gave me the ether told me that the surgeon would do as he thought best, regardless of my wishes. That was Thursday morning; Saturday afternoon I was up and sitting in a chair, and I was up and dressed and about the ward every day during my brief stay in the hospital. Only once did I have the slightest pain and that was stopped as soon as I could get word to the practitioner. The first four days the nurse took my temperature and asked me the usual questions; then she laughingly remarked it was useless and discontinued it, and though she was puzzled because I showed none of the usual abnormal conditions and had no pain, she said I was all right and did not even restrict my diet. The first time my arm was dressed after the operation, the surgeon who had performed the operation and the head nurse were so astonished that for a moment they could not speak. The surgeon finally exclaimed, "Did you ever see anything like it in your life,—healed by first intention!" The surgeon had been so positive that blood poisoning would set in that he had said that he would not give fifteen cents for my chances with that arm. In three weeks I was discharged.

While I do not wish to belittle the work of the surgeon in any way, I am positive from my own observations and the remarks of the surgeon and nurses, that had it not been for Christian Science I would not have a right arm to-day. For this and other healings and help in many ways, I am certainly grateful to Christian Science. —T. H. Libbey, Nunica, Mich.

IN May, 1919, I was stricken severely with inflammation of the lining of the middle ear. Two op-little over a year and a half ago, it has been our daily sustenance, and we find that when we leave the working out of our problems to God, then only are they solved. I feel I can never be grateful enough for the consecrated life of Mrs. Eddy; for her writings, and our Christian Science periodicals, to the receipt of which I eagerly look forward. My daily prayer is that all mankind may know God aright.—(Mrs.) Stella S. Barin, New York, N. Y.

IN the third epistle of John we read, "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth." I never knew what a well and prosperous day was before I began the study of Christian Science. It seemed I had all the diseases "that flesh is heir to." I had suffered from childhood from stomach trouble and sick headaches, sleepiness and drowsiness; and thank God I can now say that I am a well man. I used to suffer in cloudy and damp weather, but although it has been cloudy and rainy for the past year, I have not felt the least ill effect from the weather. I used to suffer so much with sick headaches that I could not ride on the train without suffering great pain. I was called to Oklahoma last fall to see my daughter and I was up all night in the cold and rain without any disagreeable results.

When influenza was raging last winter my folks were taken down all at once; my little girl and my wife were suffering very severely and the little girl was in a serious condition. I took her in my arms to an adjoining room, and she and I began to realize that God was her Life and in a few minutes she was better. She was surely faithful. We obeyed Mrs. Eddy's instruction found on page 495 of Science and Health, "When the illusion of sickness or sin tempts you, cling steadfastly to God and His idea," and in a few days all was well, and I was able to help others. I was getting ready to go to town one day and I began to feel very bad, and, having all the symptoms of influenza and as I had to walk about a mile of the way, I decided I did not feel like making the trip, but finally said, "I will go, for God is all-power and ever present," and I started. It seemed a struggle at first, but I pressed on and did not think of myself again until ready to start home. Then I found I was free.

When the war talk was so great two years ago and we had such dry years, we made scarcely anything, and I had a hard struggle with the problem of supply, so last year I decided to apply my little understanding of Christian Science. The weather was the reverse of the previous year; then the talk was that we would not make anything because it was raining too much and the bugs would destroy the cotton. I was very much in debt. The year before, I used to get pencil and paper and note down how much I owed; this I now refused to do, or to listen to any talk of failure. I did not get as much corn land as I wanted, however, and began to be disturbed about that, when the thought came to me that since God is supply I would have plenty anyway, and when I began harvesting my corn

I found that there was twice as much as generally grew. The same was true with my cotton. I paid my debts and bought everything we needed and had plenty left, so I know that if we will be firm and know that God is all-power and that He does protect us, our barns will be full and running over. I wish to say to those who may be struggling with the problem of supply, if they will take up the study of the Bible in the light of Christian Science, they will be healed as I have been. The Scriptures say, "Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." Words cannot express the love and gratitude that I have for our dear Leader, who has mapped out the way for us. I wish so to live that I may be worthy to be called a Christian Scientist.—C. D. Gordon, Bonita, Texas.

I FEEL very grateful for all that Christian Science has done for me; it is about nine years since I first heard of it through a friend. I was suffering from an internal complaint and had been attended for about two years by several doctors who said I would in all probability develop consumption. However, I wrote to a practitioner and asked her if I could be healed, and I shall always remember the beautiful and loving words I received in return, assuring me of my possible healing. The kind practitioner took up my case immediately and after four treatments I was absolutely healed.

I would like also to tell of my mother's healing, although she is not a Christian Scientist. A very large lump grew on her side, and as she was in a weak condition, the doctor ordered her to bed to gain strength before going to the hospital to be operated on. After a few days I asked her to try Christian Science and she said she would. The same practitioner took up her case and the healing was accomplished very quickly. I am indeed very grateful for all the benefits I have received, and I hope sometime to be able to help others as I have been helped.—(Mrs.) Martha Gordon Maccabe, Belfast, Ireland.

I WISH to express my gratitude for what Christian Science has done for me and my family. The first blessing received was the healing of my son, who had a high fever and was delirious. In six hours after a practitioner was asked for help his temperature was normal, and in twenty-four hours he was very hungry and ate all he wanted, without any ill effects, and the fever did not return. After this healing I was so encouraged I asked the practitioner if she could help me for a trouble I had been suffering from for several years, on account of which I was wearing a truss and was almost a physical wreck. I did not think I could ever be well again. She replied, "What cannot God do? If we are obedient we will get our reward." She gave me one treatment, and that evening before retiring, I argued with myself as to laying the truss off, which I had been compelled to wear for a long time. So the words came to me, "If we are obedient we will get our reward." I took it off, and have not worn it since, nor have I had any use for it since, which is seven years now. My daughter was also helped in her school work when it seemed almost impossible for her to pass her examination.

At another time my son, sixteen years of age, met with a motor cycle accident. He was carried to the doctor's office and his wound dressed. They brought him home, and he was suffering very great pain. I called in a practitioner; she stood by the bedside possibly five minutes, and in fifteen minutes he was perfectly easy, and did not suffer any more pain; in three days he was able to go out riding with his friends. We have also been able to solve financial problems; for all of which I am very thankful to God and to Mrs. Eddy.—(Mrs.) Georgia Anne Jordan, St. Petersburg, Fla.

SHORTLY after coming into Christian Science I noticed that Christian Scientists did not use tobacco. I asked a Scientist the reason why. He answered, because it was not cleanly. This caused me to quit chewing tobacco, but I continued to smoke for quite a while after, until I read in Science and Health (p. 454), "It need not be added that the use of tobacco, but I continued to smoke for harmony with Christian Science." I then concluded to stop completely. I had used tobacco for over forty years, but the desire left me and for about a year and a half I abstained, until one day out of idle curiosity, I bought a cigar and was again in bondage to the habit. I then mesmerized myself into the belief that there was no harm in it, that it did not hurt one, also that I was getting great pleasure and enjoyment out of it. After a while I noticed that I was not advancing in Science; instead was slipping back. I also noticed when meeting a Scientist that I tried to hide the cigar because I was ashamed to have a Scientist see me smoking.

I realized that the tobacco habit was not doing me any good and I again concluded to quit, but could not make the demonstration. For several years I struggled and fought; I tried to overcome it with will power; I would quit for a few hours, then I would be worse than ever; I had resolved not to ask for help from a Christian Science practitioner but to fight it out by myself. I would declare the truth and then undertake to stand fast, but would fail disgracefully. I arrived at the point at last where I had neither peace nor rest; I then asked for help, which was lovingly given. My healing was delayed but glorious when it came.

On page 241 of Science and Health Mrs. Eddy says, "The corner-stone of all spiritual building is purity;" the evil of the tobacco habit was seen to be its impurity; all craving and desire vanished, and I can now sit in a room filled with smokers and have no craving or desire for the weed; in fact the thought never enters my mind. I find I am overcoming error in my daily life more quickly and that I am advancing in Christian Science instead of slipping back. I am sending this thank offering, as a testimony of gratitude for Christian Science, for Mrs. Eddy, and to my God for the many blessings received, and know that this cup of cold water given in Christ's name will help to break the mesmerism that may seem to bind others.—J. Zollinger, Phœnix, Ariz.

ABOUT two years ago, while using some dry washing powder I got some in one of my eyes. The pain was very severe. This happened on Friday evening. I read the Lesson-Sermon and worked on the problem, yet when I went to bed it seemed as if hot coals were in the eye. I worked on until Monday evening, and not seeming to get any relief I wrote to a practitioner. After writing I put the letter to one side and took up the Quarterly to get the lesson, and before I had finished the responsive reading the demonstration was made. For this and many other healings I am indeed grateful, also for the laying off of glasses, which I have worn for fifteen years.

My daily prayer is that I may have a better understanding of this truth that makes us free. I am indeed grateful to God for Christian Science.—(Mrs.) Olive Okey, Donner, Calif.

I WISH I could tell of all the good things that Christian Science has done for me and also for the others of our family. Our son, now twenty-four years of age, has not tasted medicine since he was a baby, and when he took the physical examination for service in the army he was pronounced one hundred per cent perfect, excepting his teeth, which needed a little attention.

The first healing that I really acknowledged to be due to Christian Science, was of very severe headaches which had lasted every day for over two weeks. Then a chronic bowel disorder yielded, without any particular treatment other than my changed thought, as did fear, which is always so depressing. There is also another healing which has been permanent. A cough which had troubled me since childhood and which was very severe every winter so that sometimes I could hardly lie down at night, has been overcome and now I hardly know what it means to have a cold, and never cough.

We have all had healings innumerable, but I wish to speak of one which seems more wonderful to me than any other I have experienced. I had what seemed to be hereditary heart trouble which had lasted many years and which was my "thorn in the flesh." I was unable to walk even a short distance without severe pain and palpitation. I had always rather shrunk from asking for treatment, but finally did so in the summer of 1916 and received some help, and about six weeks later in the fall I was entirely free. This gave me hope that I could be free always, and this last autumn (1918) I suddenly awoke to the fact that I could walk briskly nearly a mile, do hard work, and run upstairs with no ill effects.—(Mrs.) Ida Mills, Almena, Kan.

I HAVE long desired to express my gratitude for Christian Science. I became interested through a friend who invited me to a Wednesday evening meeting. I was so impressed by this meeting that from that very evening

I have been a regular attendant at both the Sunday services and Wednesday evening meetings.

A severe attack of rheumatism was healed in so short a time that the doctors marveled at it. A short while ago, while doing very close work at the office where I am employed, I had difficulty with my eyes; they were in such condition that sight became very much impaired. When many of my coworkers advised me to go to an oculist, I grasped the situation as a testing time and at once knew that God, divine Love, is always with us and cares for His own. I clung steadfastly to this and to God's love, and my eyes were completely healed within a very short time. To-day they are as well and stronger than ever, for which I am profoundly grateful. I have also had daily proofs that God not only heals us of sin and disease, but will, if we turn to Him, help us in our everyday problems.—Walter A. Jacobson, Washington, D. C.

I WISH to express my gratitude for the many healings we have had in our home. In 1912 I was seriously ill with what was termed congestion of the lungs, but with the aid of a faithful practitioner and a few friends was soon able to be about my household duties, and in a few months was strong and well. Some years later I was again disabled, with a sore limb, and remembered that God is our refuge and strength, and was brought out with the help of another faithful worker.

We have been helped in many ways, but one other healing I wish to mention is that of my daughter, who was instantaneously healed of a severe pain in the back that rendered her unable to walk. With the help of a practitioner, however, she was able to dress and attend church within an hour after asking for help. For all these blessings we thank God, and our Leader for her kindness in giving the helpful instruction contained in our textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."—(Mrs.) Mildred F. Craig, Colorado Springs, Colo.

I FEEL it is my duty to send my testimony in. It will be three years the first of August since I was healed. It is wonderful what Christian Science has done for me. I had been ailing for twenty years and had received treatment from several doctors as well as specialists, but all to no avail. The doctors' laws were gallstones, chronic indigestion, chronic liver complaint, Bright's disease, paralyzed bowels, nervous prostration, heart failure, neuralgia, and other ailments.

The doctors said I would have to go under an operation and even that might not help me, so the fear of the knives drove me to Christian Science. I am very grateful for what Christian Science has done for me and to our dear Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, and I am also grateful that I can help others now.—(Mrs.) Harry Davis, Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada.

"AND they shall fight against thee; but they shall not prevail against thee; for I am with thee, saith the Lord, to deliver thee." It is nearly four years since I definitely gave up all material remedies, and have never once thought of going back to them. At that time I was in bed with an attack of bronchitis, the third or fourth that season, and I had also suffered that winter from diphtheria, inflammatory rheumatism, earache, which left me quite deaf for weeks, and laryngitis. These, one after the other, kept me in bed for three months, and most of the time for two months more. For years I had been under the belief of a weak heart, and when my good doctor told me one morning, "I can give you no hope of ever being well, but can try to keep you patched up comfortably for a few years," I said, "Then I shall try Christian Science."

I had known of Christian Science in a vague way for a few years because of friends who were interested, and for more than a year had been reading Science and Health and the Journal to my mother, but without the least understanding and without a great deal of interest in the subject. It was all so strange to me that I sometimes asked if I read intelligently, for I could make no clear sense of the sentences. Little as I realized it the soil was being prepared, and when I saw my need I turned to Science with no misgivings and found my blessing.

In a few days I was dressed and walking about upstairs; it was a week or two before I ventured to go downstairs—that old belief of heart held me back. Gradually I learned that a heart is of no more consequence to the life of man than a toe is, and as the fear vanished strength came, and for more than three years I have been free of that "ball and chain." Another complete healing is that of a varicose vein that it had been necessary to bandage daily for about fifteen years, and from which I suffered intensely at times.

One by one the shackles fall, and I have laid aside glasses which had been worn constantly for twenty-nine years. Five different specialists had said I could never do without them and would need stronger lenses as time went on. Since I put them away I have done a great deal of reading and sewing and have not once thought of them except to give thanks that I no longer need them.

Last winter an attack of inflammatory rheumatism was proved to be nothing in just a few days, and numbers of discords have been met promptly through the loving assistance of practitioners. A dislocated finger joint, badly swollen and very painful, was healed in a few hours through my own understanding. I can only say that gratitude for these many blessings is hard to express. To some one who is discouraged I trust I bring a word of light when I say that from the suffering and weakness of old beliefs and fears when I was not of much use in the home life, I have been for nearly two years doing all the work in a large house, with only an occasional day's help; for two years I have canned, preserved, jellied, and pickled everything I could from the garden, and had a great supply. And each year since September I have added the charge of four lively schoolboys to my household duties, and am doing it with so much more comfort than I ever expected to know before I became acquainted with the glorious truth which Mrs. Eddy's discovery impartially gave to every one.

It has made me very happy to be able to realize the truth enough to help others a few times, and I hope to be always ready to help more and more. From the testimonies of others in the Journal and Sentinel I have received so much encouragement that I trust my experience will be helpful to some one to whom life, our old conception of it, seems a burden.

There is no church or society here but a few students are trying to put the teachings of Christian Science into practice as they daily rely upon the promise of the "Lord of hosts," as given in Malachi, "Prove me now herewith . . . if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."—(Miss) Laura Ann Chandler, Andover, Mass.

WHEN Christian Science was first brought to my attention, I was nursing in a sanitarium in Oklahoma, U.S.A., and very much opposed to my concept of this teaching. While temporarily absent from my duties, on a visit to friends, I was taken very ill with neuralgia of the heart, and it was only through a sense of courtesy that I allowed one of my friends, a Christian Scientist, to treat me. The intense suffering, which had lasted several days, left almost immediately, and I soon learned that at the same time I had been healed of what several prominent physicians had pronounced an organic heart trouble for which materia medica had no help.

One of the most beautiful proofs I have ever had of the efficacy of Christian Science came when we were making an overland journey, with oxen, from Edmonton to Grand Prairie, a distance of more than six hundred miles. The feed for our oxen gave out after three days' travel from a stopping place, and even my light weight seemed an added burden to the faithful creatures, so after making the children comfortable I walked on ahead. Although all during our long weeks of travel our needs had been most beautifully supplied, yet I had let fear creep into my thought, through listening to many stories of the hardships experienced by settlers going over that trail, and I commenced to worry about procuring provender for our cattle and the possibility of the ice giving out before we could reach the river. While dwelling on those thoughts I noticed a dim trail leading from the main one, and thinking that perhaps it led to where a haystack had been I followed in the hope of finding something that the cattle could eat. After some time I came to where a stack had been removed long before, and was looking about with a discouraged feeling when I became conscious that I was thoroughly chilled and the sun was nearly down. I therefore walked rapidly away, not noticing that I was following a dimmer trail and after some time I had no idea from which direction I had come or in which direction to go.

I was very tired and shivering with the cold, and the fearful thought came to me that the only thing I could do was to sit down and await the end. Following this, however, the thought of leaving my two little children motherless, in such a place, flashed over me, and then the remembrance of Christian Science came to me, and I began to declare the truth, and in a moment heard bells ringing, clear and beautiful as chimes. At first I thought that was what they were. Again and yet again they rang, and with the realization of God's protecting care I turned and ran as fast as the down timber would allow in the direction whence the sound had come. After a time I came to a trail, which eventually led me into the public trail, where I found my husband. He had walked ahead to find a place where we could camp for the night and had not thought of the possibility of my leaving the trail. Ever since that time I have realized more clearly than before that, as Mrs. Eddy says, "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need" (Science and Health, p. 494), when we are willing to be guided by Truth. Later I spent weary months when there did not seem to be a ray of light ahead and I could only cling to that beautiful promise, "God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able." But since awaking to the fact that self-pity, resentment, and lack of love were keeping me out of the kingdom, I have proved that "all things work together for good to them that love God."

I thank God for Christian Science and for His worthy servant, Mrs. Eddy, who was pure enough and brave enough to bring to this sinful and sorrowing world the truth which does make free.—(Mrs.) Ursula Faulkner Tjensvold, Hythe, Alberta, Canada.

IT is with gratitude I send my testimony in the hope that it may encourage any one whose healing may be slow.

About the year 1903 I became ill and an inmate of a hospital, where I underwent an operation for what was diagnosed as abscess of the loin; later on, an operation was performed at home for a diseased rib. But the wounds caused by the operations did not heal and pieces of bone came away at intervals, and my wife dressed my wounds daily. The doctor then suggested a third operation, to which I would not consent, and I did not see him again until the year 1911. By this time the doctor feared that the disease was too far advanced for an operation to be successful, though he gave me a card of admission to a hospital for this purpose. Just previous to this, Christian Science had been presented to me by a lady who had been healed of a tumor, and she advised me to try it. I called upon a practitioner in the autumn of 1911, who started treatment for me at once. This was on a Thursday, and the following Monday I started work again, and the healing began. For about two years I had regular treatment, and I attended the Christian Science services regularly which were held then in the district. Afterwards I received occasional help and visits from the practitioner, during which time pieces of diseased bone came away, the deep incisions filled up, and the wounds closed. The complete healing took place in November, 1919, after a period of eight years. Our hearts are full of gratitude for the life work of that dear woman, Mrs. Eddy, whose teaching made such healing possible for us.—Edward Mazey, Kings Norton, Worcestershire, England.

I gladly corroborate my husband's testimony, and wish to say that my son is also a student of Christian Science and it has been a great help to him during the war, when in great danger at the front.—(Mrs.) Mary Mazey.

It is with deep gratitude for Christian Science that I am sending in my testimony that it may help others as others have helped me. Two years ago I took up the study of Christian Science, not because I cared so much for it, as I had heard about it since I was a little girl, and never thought there was any good in it; but I also had been sick since a little girl,—never strong like other children,—and after I grew up was never strong or well, and was growing worse all the time. At the time I started to study Christian Science I had seen such a beautiful healing of a friend of mine that I thought if she could be healed I did not see why I could not. I got a copy of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" and started to read, and not finding anything very interesting in it laid it aside; but as I had tried doctors so much and never got much help I thought I would try and read some more, and in a short time my eyes were healed. I had worn glasses for fifteen years and three doctors told me I would always have to wear them. It is now almost two years since I laid them off and I have never had to put them on again and I can read more and do more fine work now without them than I could when I was wearing them.

I also was healed of a stomach trouble that I had had for years and another sickness that had bothered me for fourteen years, but with the faithful help of a practitioner it was all overcome. I was subject to severe headache and it took me quite a while to overcome that, but it made me study so much harder, and I became more interested the more I read, and I am so thankful for all the healings for myself and family. The children have had several healings. Our little girl seemed, to mortal sense, very sick and had a high fever. I telephoned to a practitioner for help and all pain left her; the next day I noticed she was yellow, both her eyes and body, and it was yellow jaundice she had, but she suffered no more pain. After a couple of weeks the oldest boy manifested the same disease, but I applied the truth to the best of my understanding; he did not lose one day from school. I am thankful for all the physical healing we have had but I am much more thankful for the spiritual uplift—to know that the truth makes men free, that Christian Science is a religion of love, and nothing but good results from the study of it. It meets all human needs if we only apply it rightly. To know

God, and that He is Love takes away all fear. I am thankful to God and to our dear Leader, Mrs. Eddy, for showing us the way and also thankful for the Lesson-Sermons, and for the Sentinel, which is such a help to me. —(Mrs.) Inger Sorenson, Story City, Iowa.

WITH sincere gratitude I send this acknowledgment of the benefits received from Christian Science. About sixteen years ago I was lent a copy of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, which I commenced reading merely to satisfy my curiosity as to its teaching. Not knowing that Christian Science was a religion I was greatly surprised at the beautiful truth contained in its textbook, and upon the application of this truth I was able to make it practical in my experience, thereby gaining an understanding of God for which I have never ceased to be thankful. My mother, hungering for spiritual food, commenced reading Science and Health, with no thought of physical healing, but the understanding she received of God and her relation to Him caused her to read the book with such absorbed interest that she was healed of a malignant growth without being aware that the healing was taking place until the disease had vanished into nothingness. She was also healed at the same time of what was considered a serious kidney trouble.

In my immediate family we have had healings of typhoid pneumonia and scarlet fever, also partial paralysis, croup, and many minor ailments. The two younger children, sixteen and nine years of age, have known no remedy but that of divine Mind, for which they frequently express their gratitude. I wish to express my gratitude for every channel through which the activities of Christian Science are operating.—(Mrs.) Alda Mason, Dallas, Texas.

It is with deepest love and gratitude that I confirm the above testimony as given by my daughter of my healing of a malignant growth and kidney trouble. I have had other healings for which I am grateful, but that which I most appreciate is the spiritual understanding of God as taught in Science and Health.—Mrs. N. L. Clay, Neosho, Mo.

I DESIRE to give my testimony in order that God may be glorified, that those seeking Christian Science may be strengthened, and that I may express my gratitude to our beloved Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered the divine law of being and founded a church, in the midst of "a wicked and perverse generation," to shelter and protect those who are striving to walk in the footsteps of the Master, Christ Jesus.

For many years I seldom knew a day without pain. Loving friends, physicians, and a famous surgeon, all tried to correct the many diseases that claimed me as a victim. All attempts failed. While I was traveling in the central west of the United States all the seeming anxieties, troubles, and diseases that were making life a burden seemed to gather in one black cloud, from which there apparently was no escape. Christian Science cleared away the darkness, and the work of replacing wrong thoughts with right thoughts began. I had heard of Christian Science, but as I was not interested in a new religion and could not in my ignorance believe that physical healing was possible here and now, I gave no heed to the subject. Divine Love met my need, for I met a loving disciple of Christ who explained to me that Christian Science teaches mankind the true idea of Love and that Christ has never left the earth, and therefore it is possible here and now to do the works of Jesus.

Under the guidance of this loving disciple I began the study of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermons. The great joy that came as I began to know God aright and see man as His perfect idea, words cannot express; only the earnest student of Christian Science knows. After three days' study I awoke in the night to find myself in the grasp of malarial fever, the worst attack I had ever experienced. The first thought was, Call a physician; the second, Call a practitioner; the third, Call the loving disciple who told you about the Christ. Then came the question: Whom have you always sought and whom are you truly seeking? and the answer was: God, and He is present. Then I found myself well, and with great rejoicing arose and declared my gratitude to the loving Father who had healed me.

There have been severe struggles many times since, but Truth is always the victor and for the past eight years I have had God for my only Physician. By learning to follow Mrs. Eddy's instruction found on page 248 of Science and Health, "We must form perfect models in thought and look at them continually, or we shall never carve them out in grand and noble lives," I have been healed of the belief that one can suffer for the sins of others. I am striving in all my activities to realize and prove the unreality of matter, and I am deeply grateful that thereby I, too, can touch the hem of the garment of Christ.—(Miss) Mary E. Foster, New York City.

THE testimonies of others have been of so much help to me that I wish to add mine, hoping some other seeker after Truth may be encouraged as I have been. About six years ago life seemed hopeless. I was suffering from a tubercular condition of the lungs, and the doctors admitted they had done all they could for me. Christian Science was then brought to my notice by a friend. I decided to try it, as I knew material aid was useless. My mental condition was even worse, if such it could be, due to a family trouble I seemed powerless to avert. I visited a practitioner the next day, and the things she told me about God (who I had decided was too far away to know anything about me) seemed so wonderful that by the time I reached home, I had forgotten my trouble. From then on I steadily improved physically and mentally, until in a little over a month's time I was at work, where I had to stand all day. I have not words to express my gratitude to God, and to Mrs. Eddy for this wonderful truth.

The knowledge of the ever presence of divine Love has been such a comfort to me the past eight months, situated as I have been in an almost isolated condition. It is my prayer to reflect daily more of Life, Truth, and Love.—(Mrs.) Lucy M. Stevens, Rawlins, Wyo.

I HAVE received so much help from reading the testimonies in the Sentinels and Journals that I want to send mine, hoping it will benefit others as I have been benefited. I did not take up the study of Christian Science for physical healing. I was seeking peace of mind and happiness when Christian Science was presented to me.

The first time I heard of Christian Science it was being ridiculed and I became very much interested in what was being said about the way the Christian Scientists prayed. It was stated by one of the parties that Christian Scientists did not ask God for anything; they just believed God had made all things good, and they just thanked God that everything was here. Although it was being told in ridicule I wondered if it could be true, and I remember on retiring that night I tried to pray the way they said the Christian Scientists prayed, and I know that prayer was what led me to find God.

When quite a young girl I had had a sorrow that left me very unhappy and restless, always seeking happiness in some material thing, but always being disappointed, never finding it. At the time Christian Science was presented to me in the right way I was at the place where there was nothing left to live for, and an intense dread of the future was always with me. One of my friends gave me a copy of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, telling me if I would read and study it I would find the help I needed, so with a desire to find God and happiness I started to read. That was ten years ago and I am so thankful to say I did indeed find God, and when I found Him I found a peace and happiness no amount of material gain could give—the happiness that comes from a right understanding of God. I also found that as I gained a better understanding of God I was constantly being lifted into better conditions. I found perfect health, which I had never had before; better business opportunities were presented to me; living became a new thing to me.

I am so grateful for the understanding that the divine Mind alone governs man; this realization has helped me at every turn. One experience where I proved this truth stands out so clearly in my memory that I would like to tell it. Business had taken me to a rather small town where it was important that I should find a suitable place to live. I arrived one Sunday morning and after attending church services I started out to find a place to live. After looking for a good part of the afternoon and meeting with no success, I returned in a very discouraged frame of mind to the hotel where I was stopping. I then started to work as we are taught in Christian Science, realizing that Mind alone was guiding man. The thought came to me to look in The Christian Science Journal for a practitioner and see if one of them knew of a suitable place for me. I selected one of the practitioners whose name I found, and called on her and stated my errand. We talked for some time and I remarked that I knew God would direct me to the right place. She said she, too, had been knowing that God would direct the right party to their home to live with them, so I found my room all ready to occupy and I shall never cease to be grateful for the time spent in that home. And so I have ever found it; always when we understandingly apply what we know of God we are guided into what is right for us to have. That I am grateful for Christian Science seems a small thing to say, but I am trying every day to let my life attest my gratitude.—(Mrs.) Florence Vachon, Seattle, Wash.

I WANT to express my gratitude for God's great blessing, Christian Science, and for what it has done for me and mine. I have been completely healed of consumption of the bones, and have gained in weight and strength. Hate has been replaced by love, and belief by faith. I cannot mention all the blessings for there have been many. My little boy has been healed of scarlet rash, and of whooping cough in three weeks. I know Truth's touch is power and it never fails us. I know God's spiritual laws are the only laws, and by them we are governed. I am grateful for our loving, patient practitioners, for their tender words of encouragement when we seemingly pass very close to the valley of the shadow. I am grateful for the literature and the wonderful, uplifting thoughts it brings, also for our dear Leader, Mrs. Eddy, for her unselfish love in giving to humanity the "Key to the Scriptures." I am indeed grateful for spiritual understanding.—(Mrs.) N. Christina Petersen, Kansas City, Kan.

DURING the eight years that I have been interested in Christian Science I have been the recipient of many, many blessings. Colds, burns, a rash, trouble with my teeth, and headaches have been destroyed by Truth. The understanding of God and man, as taught in Christian Science, has solved problems that have presented themselves in school work, and has shown me that instead of "going out into the world to seek one's fortune" one must go out of the world (material sense) to do so. The wonderfully helpful and comforting thing about Christian Science is that it proves to us that God is omnipresent, and that He is all-powerful and all-wise, and therefore no matter where we may seem to be or what our problem may seem to be, our tender, never failing Father-Mother is ready and able to lead us gently to the understanding that with Him, and the real man, there are no problems.

More than the physical healings, I value the purification that has taken place in my consciousness. Many mortal beliefs, such as self-pity, self-condemnation, worry, and other forms of selfishness, have been uncovered as nothing trying to mesmerize me into believing them to be something. Although mortal mind makes mistakes, and struggles hard to defraud one, still how comforting and inspiring it is to know that no seemingly unpleasant experience of any sort has one bit of reality, or is in any way connected with God and His perfect, spiritual idea, man.

Since learning to recognize and prove the unreality of error when it tries to present itself to my thought, I am beginning to understand what is meant by the command, "Love thy neighbour as thyself." My neighbor reflects God just as much as I do, and if error is not real, or a part of me, then it is not real or a part of my neighbor, who is every idea of God. And so Christian Science teaches one to go on from glory to glory up the steep and rugged path which all may, and must, climb to the realization that no true idea is limited in any way and that, in reality, all are working together for good, God.

How grateful I am that there is a God who is good, and that the world, including me, is learning to know and prove this fact. My gratitude to God, to Christ Jesus, to Mrs. Eddy, and all true and faithful workers can only be shown by living the truth, destroying error, and doing deeds of righteousness.—(Miss) Marion D. Robb, Aurora, Minn.

IT is with sincere and heartfelt gratitude that I send this testimony of what Christian Science has done for me. When it came to me about seven years ago, I was physically ill, and mentally despondent and discouraged. I had suffered for weeks with an infection in my right arm, which, according to the attending physicians, threatened the loss of one or two fingers, and possibly the hand. Then one day a kind neighbor brought in an armful of books to help pass the time away, and among the collection was one which referred to Christian Science. It held my interest to such an extent that I immediately sent to the library for the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mrs. Eddy, and began an earnest study to find out what this religion is. I had never even seen one of the periodicals or attended the Christian Science church, and had never been especially interested when I had occasionally heard of some wonderful healing.

I did not seek it for its healing power, even though I was sorely in need; but I was so attracted to this beautiful teaching that after reading the first chapter I knew I had found the truth. Great was my astonishment and that of my family, as well as of the doctor, when after only a few days of study I was completely healed, and not only of that trouble but of other ailments that had been with me for years—such as stomach and bowel complaint, nervousness, weak eyes, and sick headaches; all these errors gradually disappeared, and life became a joy to me. I have also overcome, in a great measure, a quick temper and other faults of disposition and am learning to let infinite Mind govern not only myself, but also my home and work, knowing that divine intelligence is ours. I am so thankful for this great truth and the many blessings that have come to me through Christian Science. I am grateful for our periodicals, which are indeed daily bread. I am also grateful for our reading rooms, where I have spent many happy hours, and to our revered Leader, Mrs. Eddy, who has made all this possible for us. —(Mrs.) Constance Bybee, Long Beach, Calif.

FOR several years I was a semi-invalid, and during a period of four years did not have a natural movement of the bowels. I had almost constant headaches with frequent severe attacks which lasted two or three days. These attacks were becoming more frequent and there was great fear of their recurrence. Not only did I dread the pain, but the feeling of uselessness to others and inability to cope with the situation was most distressing.

After a change of residence a dear friend and neighbor suggested that I read "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. I knew nothing about Christian Science but was willing to try anything. I had loved the Bible and studied it all my life. After reading Science and Health a very short time God appeared in a new light. His relation to His creation was revealed as so entirely different from anything that I had previously conceived that I knew I could rely entirely upon Him for healing. As soon as this conviction was reached I stopped taking medicine and rejoiced to see the ills completely disappear. A new world opened up to me. I had never known such freedom; this lasted for several months. I read and studied alone, attending services whenever possible. Then claims such as I had never known presented themselves. Willingly, patiently, a practitioner helped me. Many phases of error came to the surface. The wilderness seemed very large, so large that it could not have been crossed without divine Love as guide. I now know that error appears only to disappear. I am so grateful for the lessons learned and for the freedom gained through absolute reliance on God.—(Mrs.) Elsie L. Poole, Fort Myer Heights, Va.

IT is with heartfelt and loving gratitude for the teachings of Christian Science that I am sending this testimony, with the earnest hope that some one may be helped as I have been by reading testimonies in the Christian Science periodicals. I did not come into Christian Science for any physical need, but because when this truth was first presented to me six years ago I was in the deepest trouble; life seemed unlivable, all was discord, sadness, and no hope of matters being any better; but "man's extremity is God's opportunity." One dear to me, having a slight knowledge of Christian Science, asked me to attend a service with her. I at that time had no wish for religion of any kind, and so went to my first Christian Science service in anything but a receptive frame of mind; however, during the time there I felt an atmosphere of peace which attracted me to attend further services. At first all seemed strange and difficult, but step by step as I tried to put each thought of evil out of consciousness

I gained more light; I realized that I had to do my own mental work and no one else could do it for me; though I had many loving friends who helped and encouraged me, still it was my duty to work out my own salvation. My one desire was for an understanding of this truth, and, as Mrs. Eddy tells us in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 1), "Desire is prayer."

Christian Science revealed to me a God who is Love, never sending sorrow or sickness to His creation; that man's birthright is dominion not subjection, and that as we turn humbly to divine Love for guidance, He never fails us. I had many difficulties after accepting Christian Science, but can now look back on each trial as necessary for my progress, and I learned how to put in place of wrong thoughts the true thoughts of God and of man made in His image and likeness. Christian Science has completely changed every discordant condition of my life, unraveled the problems, which no other religious teaching could have done, given me a demonstrable, perfect law of God, good, for my daily living, brought peace, love, and harmony into my home once more.

I am deeply grateful to God for leading me to Christian Science, and also to Mrs. Eddy, whose understanding was pure enough to enable her to reveal to poor, suffering humanity its God-given heritage of health and happiness.—(Mrs.) A. M. Crabtree, Teignmouth, Devonshire, England.

CHURCH TREASURER

Per Capita Tax:—The annual per capita tax for which the Manual provides is due from members of The Mother Church June 1, but may be paid at any time during the year. The per capita tax of those who unite with the church in November is reckoned from the preceding June, for that is the beginning of the church year. If a remittance for church dues exceeds the amount required to balance one's account, the surplus will be credited for the current year, unless otherwise directed by the sender.

Please remit by postal or express money order, bank draft, or check. Do not send paper money through the mail unless registered.

Please advise promptly of any change in name or address.

Per capita taxes and contributions to the Real Estate Fund and to The Christian Science Benevolent Association Fund should be sent to EDWARD L. RIPLEY, Treasurer, 236 Huntington Avenue, Boston 17, Mass.

CLERK OF THE MOTHER CHURCH

Please address correspondence relating to membership with The Mother Church and requests for blank applications for membership to CHARLES E. JARVIS, Clerk, 236 Huntington Avenue, Boston 17, Mass.

INSTRUCTIONS REGARDING ADVERTISEMENTS

IN THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONTHLY PERIODICALS

The Christian Science Publishing Society accepts for advertisement in the Christian Science periodicals only those cards which have first been approved by the Board of Directors of The Mother Church. Following this approval a notice is sent by the Publishing Society stating the amount due for the insertion of the advertisement in the Journal, Le Héraut, or Der Herold.

The annual charges for advertisements in the Journal, payable in advance, are $10.00 for each line or fraction thereof for the church advertisements, and $5.00 for each line or fraction thereof for the practitioners' and nurses' advertisements. The practitioners' and nurses' advertisements are published only in the January, April, July, and October issues of the Journal. The charge for practitioners' advertisements in Le Héraut or Der Herold is $2.00 for each line or fraction thereof.

A few weeks previous to the termination of an advertisement, a notification showing amount due for continued publication is mailed. If renewal payment is not made by the time of its expiration, it will be discontinued, on the basis that by not renewing payment the church or practitioner thereby requests its removal. When once discontinued, a new application and approval are required before an advertisement is accepted for reinsertion.

PRACTITIONERS AND NURSES

Practitioners whose cards are accepted for the Journal, Le Héraut, or Der Herold, it is understood, will be found regularly at the addresses published in their advertisements. Should a practitioner of necessity be temporarily absent from the designated place for two months or longer, request should be made to the Publishing Society to have the words "postal address" inserted in the notice during that period, instead of the hours, and provision should be made for the prompt forwarding of mail.

Advertisers in Le Héraut are required to speak and write both English and French, and in Der Herold to speak and write both English and German.

Nurses whose cards are accepted for the Journal are expected to maintain in their advertisements an address through which mail will reach them at all times.

As the names published in the Journal, Le Héraut, and Der Herold must appear in the same form as on the records of The Mother Church, notice of any change of name, by marriage or otherwise, should at once be sent to the Publishing Society, also to the clerk of The Mother Church.

ORGANIZATION AND RECOGNITION OF BRANCH CHURCHES AND SOCIETIES OF THE MOTHER CHURCH

When members of The Mother Church in a community believe that the time has come for the holding of regular services, and for the formation of a Christian Science Society, or the formation of a branch Church of Christ, Scientist, in accordance with Article XXIII, Sections 6 and 7, of the Manual of The Mother Church, they should write to The Christian Science Board of Directors for information concerning organization as a branch of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

READING ROOMS

A reading room notice, giving the address and the hours when the rooms are regularly open to the public, is a necessary part of every church advertisement, and care should be taken to have the rooms open, with an attendant in charge, at the hours named. The notice of a reading room is published only in connection with the notice of a church or society.

INSTRUCTIONS

COMMUNICATIONS AND CHANGES

The name and address of the duly elected clerk in office of each church and society is kept on file by The Christian Science Publishing Society, and all communications from a church or society as an organization should be officially signed by its clerk. When a new clerk is elected, the name and address should be forwarded without delay by the retiring clerk.

When the name of a new First Reader is to be inserted in the card of a church or society, the request for the change should be made in writing by the clerk, and care should be taken to give the name in the exact form in which it appears on the records of The Mother Church. The name of the Second Reader (whether newly elected or otherwise) should be forwarded at the same time.

In case of a change of address, notice should at once be sent to the Publishing Society. A charge of $1.00 is made to cover the cost for any change in an advertisement except that of a name of a new Reader, and this amount should accompany the request for the change.

Requests for any change in the advertising pages of the Journal, Le Héraut, and Der Herold should reach the Publishing Society at least six weeks previous to the actual date of issue. Requests for changes in the practitioners' and nurses' advertisements which are now published quarterly in the January, April, July, and October issues of the Journal, should reach the Publishing Society two months in advance of the actual date of issue.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE PRACTITIONERS

The Practitioners whose advertisements appear in these columns are members of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, U.S.A., and are amenable to its By-Laws. They have presented testimony to The Christian Science Board of Directors of The Mother Church showing that they are qualified as practitioners of Christian Science.

The degree C.S.D. is the Massachusetts Metaphysical College degree, Doctor of Christian Science.

The degree C.S.B. is the Massachusetts Metaphysical College degree, Bachelor of Christian Science. This degree followed by the word teacher designates one who has received a certificate and is authorized to teach.

The letters C.S. after a practitioner's or a nurse's name designate one who has had class instruction. Those without such instruction have no designation.

NOTE—Not all who have the degree of C.S.B. or C.S.D. are authorized teachers. See Article XXVI, Section 9, Church Manual. Authorized teachers hold but one class each year, with not more than thirty pupils in a class. Pursuant to a resolution of the Board of Directors of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., the teaching year, which formerly began August 1, now begins January 1.
